NEW LAW AIMS DEATH BLOW AT GERMAN TRUSTS

U. S. Commander Announces De-Cartelization Decree To Outlaw Combines.

BERLIN — (INS) — Lieut. Gen. Lucius D. Clay, American commander in Europe, announced issuance today of an historic "de-cartelization" law by the U. S. military government in Germany.

He said the law is designed "to destroy Germany's economical potential to wage war and lay the groundwork for a healthy democratic German economy."

The law prohibits German participation in international and domestic cartel arrangements and outlaws combines and trusts whose purpose is "fostering of monopolistic control and restricting others access to markets."

Presuming that enterprises employing more than 10,000 are "prime facie excessive concentrations of economic power," the law ordains that such outfits must be split up.

Issued "in furtherance of the Potsdam agreement," the law was described officially as an interim measure pending a quadripartite directive.

* * *

Hits Big Plants.

Among the leading trusts affected in the American zone are the Opel works at Ruesselsheim, the Bosch works at Stuttgart, Gute coal mines, the Hoffnungschuette establishment at Nuernberg, the Metallgesellschaft of Frankfurt, and the Degusa plant at Frankfurt.

A similar law was issued simultaneously for the British zone.

Altogether from 50 to 65 firms, representing a capital of at least three billion reichsmarks, will be affected. I. G. Farben, however, was exempted because it already was being dispersed under military government control.

Other exemptions may be granted certain economic establishments.

German trustees of a bi-zonal decartelization committee will enforce the law.

LOOT IN THEFTS PLACED AT $400

Thefts of cash, jewelry and articles totaling nearly $400 were reported to police last night and today. Two German paratrooper jackets, war souvenirs of an ex-GI, were among the articles stolen.

The reports listed at least $220 in cash stolen from a room at 76 East Fourth street, formerly occupied by Francis Morris. Police said Morris died last week.

They said an undetermined amount of change and an insurance policy also may have been taken. The room was entered by removing a lock hasp, police said.

Max Clay, Mansfield R. D. 1, reported a $95 wrist watch stolen from him at the Park theater rest room last night. He had removed the watch to wash his hands, he said.

John C. Wharton, 139 West Raleigh avenue, reported the theft of a $40 electric drill from his garage.

R. A. Laser, operator of a service station at Sixth and Mulberry streets, said two German paratrooper jackets, with a total value of $25, were taken from his car last night while it was parked on Bowman street.

Theft of $17 in cash at a Lexington avenue service station was solved when a 16-year-old boy admitted taking the money and hiding it in the station. It was part of $25 in a cash bag. No charges were filed against the boy.

BUCK PREDICTS RENT CHANGES

WASHINGTON —(U.P.)— Chairman C. Douglass Buck (R-Del.) said today his senate banking subcommittee probably will recommend both a general increase in rent ceilings and de-control of new housing.

Buck's subcommittee has been assigned the task of drafting legislation to continue rent control in some form beyond its June 30 expiration date.

As of now, Buck said in an interview, a provision for ending rent ceilings on new construction is a "sure thing." And, he added, the subcommittee is "most likely" to authorize an across-the-board rent boost.

The departure of Republican senators for out-of-town Lincoln day dinners forced Buck to delay the subcommittee's first closed session, probably until Thursday.

1,350 To Attend Chamber Dinner; Ticket Sale Ends

There'll be 1,350 persons at the Mansfield Chamber of Commerce annual membership dinner Friday night.

So great has been the demand for reservations that the general committee announced today that the sale of tickets "has been absolutely closed."

The week-end and Monday demand exceeded expectations. Plans had been made to accommodate 1,000, possibly 1,200.

But when the committee met last night to check the sale, it discovered that 1,350 tickets had been sold. Thus it realized its desire to make the 1947 annual dinner the greatest in Mansfield history.

Immediately it rechecked facilities and made arrangements to accommodate all who had purchased tickets. It announced that the tables could be so arranged in the Coliseum that guests would be seated without undue crowding and still be given a clear view of the stage at the west end of the auditorium.

* * *

No Refunds.

On behalf of the committee, C. R. VanDerau, general chairman, announced that no refunds would be made for unused tickets. This policy was determined upon in view of the tremendous cost of the elaborate program and the large sum involved in the food guarantee.

A staff of more than 100 persons will serve the food.

The committee asked that all guests reach the Coliseum in time to be seated at 6:30 p. m. To make that possible, it ordered doors opened at 5:45 p. m.

It arranged facilities to permit speedy checking of coats; detailed Boy Scouts to seat the guests as they come.

It assigned police officers to handle the auto parking; retained a tow car to assist motorists should inclement weather or soft ground lead them into difficulty.

A lost and found booth will be maintained.

* * *

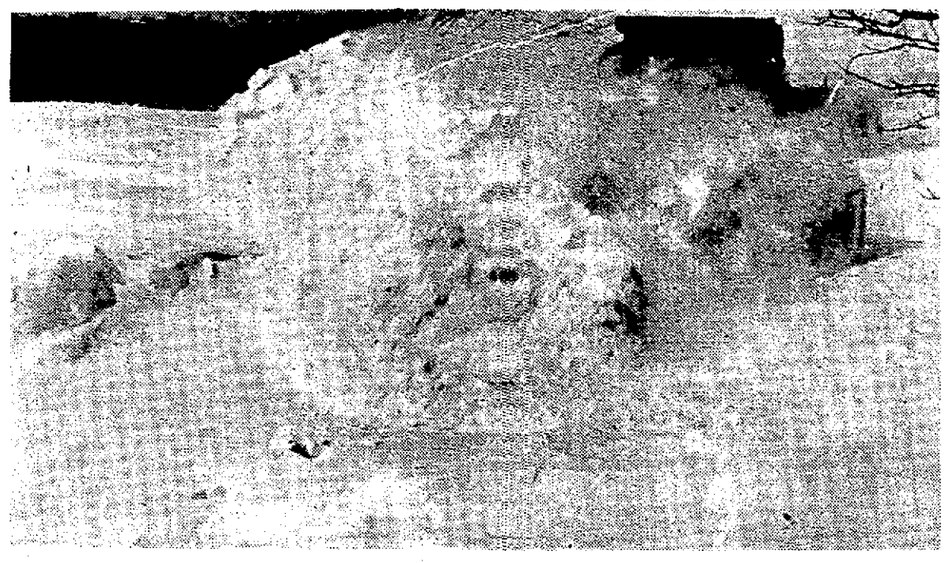
Beehive of Activity.

Equipment for the dinner will start to move into the Coliseum Thursday night. All day Friday, the Coliseum will be a beehive of activity.

Special electrical circuits will be installed to provide current for the electric roasters from which the food will be served, steaming hot. Wires also must be strung for the special lighting effects.

Speakers will be seated at two tables. They will include Dr. Norman Vincent Peale, noted New York pastor, who will speak on "The Art of Living"; Gov. Thomas J. Herbert and Author-Farmer Louis Bromfield. Other guests will include Murray D. Shaffer, Mansfield man now serving as state highway director; Reese Mills, president of the Chamber of Commerce, and H. B. Soulen, retiring president of the Manufacturers' club.

A highlight of the program will be the announcements of the elections of the successors to Mills and Soulen.



ROADS CLEARED — Like an angry monster, a Richland county snowplow plunges into the virgin beauty of drifted snow along the Lexington-Springmill road near the West Fourth street road. County and state highway workers operated around the clock Monday to clear roads in the county of drifts that in some places were piled six feet high. The drifts gave 4,600 rural school pupils a one-day holiday when buses were unable to travel their routes. All schools were operating in the county again today.— (News-Journal Staff photo).

Ohio Gets, Uses, Saves Record Amounts In '46

COLUMBUS—(U.P.)—The state of Ohio received more money in 1946, spent more and had more left than in any other year in the state's history, State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson disclosed today.

Ferguson said that the cash balance of $249,738,157 in Ohio's treasury at the close of the fical year 1946 established an all-time record. The 1946 figure exceeded the former record of $190,169,458 reached at the end of 1945.

The state auditor said new records also were established in the total amounts of money received and spent by the state. Receipts in 1946 passed the half billion mark for the first time with $522,971,995. This surpassed the previous high year of 1945 by $96,751,542. Expenditures totaled $468,182,140, or $82,627,330 more than was disbursed in the peak year of 1945.

Ferguson's statement showed that the state surplus, now estimated at $161,000,000, had its beginning in 1941 when receipts started to greatly exceed expenditures.

"Each succeeding year since 1941," Ferguson said, "more money has been dumped into the state surplus due to the fact that revenues from nearly all tax sources have exceeded budget estimates."

PIPELINES LIKELY TO TRANSMIT GAS

WASHINGTON— (U.P.)—Natural gas outpaced oil today in a hot contest over peacetime use of the war-built Texas-to-East Coast big inch pipelines.

Best unofficial guess at the war assets administration was that a Texas firm's $143,127,000 high bid for the lines would be accepted, opening both big inch and little big inch to permanent hauling of gas.

Whoever gets the pipes, gas transmission seemed certain. Of six valid bids opened yesterday, only one looked first to oil, and that for one pipe.

1,000 TO HEAR 'SIZZLER' TALK

A capacity crowd of more than 1,000 is expected to hear Elmer (Sizzler) Wheeler Wednesday at 7:45 p. m. in John Simpson junior high school auditorium. V. H. Lodde, secretary-manager of the Mansfield Retail Merchants association, announced today "disposal of the last 10 tickets available."

Wheeler, president of Tested Selling institute, author, and a national sales promoter, is being brought to Mansfield in what will be a series of sales talks in the interest of better trained sales forces in Mansfield," Lodde said.

"In the interest of promoting Mansfield as the shopping center of North Central Ohio, which implies well stocked stores, courteous and well trained sales forces, we will continue this series," he added.

Wheeler's talk is sponsored by the association. Mansfield merchants and their employees will be the association's guests.

PUBLISHER DIES

PALM SPRINGS, Cal.—(U.P.)—Kenneth C. Hogate, 49, president of Dow-Jones News Service and publisher of the Wall Street Journal, died today in Community hospital from a cerebral hemorrhage he suffered Jan. 29. At his bedside were his wife and daughter, Mrs. Barbara Ferrin, Scarsdale, N. Y.

LATE NEWS BULLETINS

Blast Rocks Haifi

JERUSALEM—(A.P.)—A loud explosion sounded in the Haifa port area about 6 p. m., it was officially announced tonight. Police said they had received a warning that bombs were being placed and that all residents and workers in the area were evacuated a half hour before the blast.

Names Ambassador

WASHINGTON—(A.P.)—President Truman sent to the senate today the nomination of Josiah Marvel, jr., to be ambassador to Denmark, raising his status from that of minister. Marvel, one-time secretary of state of Delaware, became minister to Denmark March 1. 1946.

Clamp On Curfew

POLA, Italy—(A.P.)—British military authorities imposed a 17-hour curfew on Pola today following the shooting of a British brigadier by an Italian woman described as "a fanatic patriot."

Crisis Growing

LONDON—(A.P.)—The Labor government cabinet reviewed the critical coal shortage again today and informed sources said it soon might extend the domestic electricity cuts to the entire nation, including Scotland.

SADIST STAMPS HEELS ON BODY

Second Brutal Murder Follows Unsolved Black Dahlia Case In Los Angeles.

LOS ANGELES — (A.P.) — Still stymied in their investigation of the "Black Dahlia" mutilation murder, police confessed today they were at sea again in a probe of the city's second sadistic murder in less than a month — the trampling to death of a former movie bit player.

Ending hours of questioning, officers booked Frank French, 47, discharged marine corps sergeant, on suspicion of murder, but Detective Gene Bechtel of the police homicide detail said:

"His story stands up very well."

French's estranged wife, Jeanne, 40, known in films as Jeanne Axford Thomas, was found—her body bludgeoned and covered with heel marks—on a lonely West Los Angeles hilltop yesterday.

Bechtel said French told him his wife came to his boarding house late Sunday night, asked him to go out with her, but he declined and went to bed.

Trial Separation.

"French said they parted about a week ago, agreeing to live apart for six months," the detective declared. "They had been quarreling, and French says they decided on the separation because she was mean when she had been drinking. He said she had been drinking Sunday night, but did not appear intoxicated."

There was a possible connection between her death and that of 22-year-old Elizabeth Short, the "Black Dahlia," police said. It lay in an obscene message scrawled in lipstick on Mrs. French's chest, signed cryptically "B. D." — the initials of "Black Dahlia."

A new development in the "Black Dahlia" case was reported to police today by a cab driver, Charles Schneider, who told them he found another in a series of notes relating to the case, lying in the glove compartment of his car when he returned from a restaurant.

Addressed to a Los Angeles newspaper, it read:

"20,000 I'll give B. D. up. Is it a go."

Police found a fingermark, not Schneider's, on the compartment, and said it would be compared with partial prints found on a letter—received soon after Miss Short's body was discovered Jan. 15 in a vacant lot—which enclosed her social security card and other personal effects.

GIRL, 14, FACES MURDER CHARGE

ST. LOUIS — (A.P.) — Fourteen-year-old Mary Catherine Reardon was held on a first degree murder charge today after a coroner's jury returned a homicide verdict in the deaths of her father and her 13-year-old boy friend.

Prosecuting Attorney Stanley Wallach said he would ask a life sentence.

The coroner's jury reported J. Vincent Reardon, 58, wealthy St. Louis paint manufacturer, died as a result of a crushed chest suffered last Saturday when his daughter shot him in the head, causing him to lose control of his automobile, which plunged down an embankment.

Skull and brain injuries suffered in the wrecking of the automobile caused the death of Mary's ninth grade classmate, Michael D'Arcy, the jury reported.

St. Louis county authorities said the girl related she shot her father because she feared he would put her in a girls' school after catching her and the D'Arcy boy in a tourist cabin where they spent last Friday night while attempting to run away from their homes.

Cleveland Man's Feet Frozen as Car Stalls In Cold

Albert Richardson, of Cleveland, was in fair condition in General hospital today after suffering frozen feet Sunday near Ashland.

Richardson's car stalled on a country road and he stood in the cold for four and a half hours vainly trying to summon help from passersby. Finally, a resident of the vicinity telephoned a wrecker service in Ashland when he noticed the Cleveland man's predicament.

At first it was feared that Richardson might lose his feet. However, Dr. P. O. Staker, resident physician at General hospital, said today he didn't think that was likely.

MONEY PANIC HIKES PRICES IN SHANGHAI

SHANGHAI —(U.P.)— A financial panic gripped Shanghai today with the price of commodities and foreign currency rising to unprecedented levels, and Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek and Premier T. V. Soong reportedly have called government leaders together in Nanking to discuss the situation.

The Generallissimo and Soong were said to be seeking ways to curb an inflationary runaway market in which the price of gold shot up to 920,000 Chinese dollars an ounce—40 per cent higher over yesterday's quotation.

The U. S. dollar rose to 17,500 Chinese dollars, up to 3,000 dollars from yesterday's high. The official rate is 3,350 to $1.

A Shanghai Evening Post survey showed that commodities have risen 80 per cent in price in the last two days. Some showed a gain of as much as 200 per cent. Imported goods, on which the government has slapped a 50 per cent ad valorem surcharge, showed the fastest rise but domestic foodstuffs were not far behind.

Chinese sources commented generally that "all confidence in Chinese currency has vanished." This was borne out by the fact that people anxious to convert their rapidly devaluating money into goods queued up in front of gold and silversmith's shops and jewelry stores.

Others Want Blind Girl And Her Dog

LOS ANGELES —(U.P.)— Blind Patsy Ruth Fergus's appeal for permission to take her guide dog to school with her was postponed by the board of education today.

It voted not to take action until Thursday when Superintendent Vierling Kersey can report on the case.

Patsy's white shepherd dog, Lucky, the only "eyes" she ever had, has been declared a "potential menace" to other students at her high school. The 16-year-old girl has been ordered either to give up her dog or give up her classes.

The order prompted introduction of a bill in the state legislature in Sacramento to prohibit any public place from barring a blind person's guide dog. The measure will be acted upon next month.

Patsy has declined offers to attend school with her dog in other communities, the most distant being Tomahawk, Wis. Her family owns property here and she wants to stay with them.

MEETING POSTPONED

COLUMBUS— (A.P.) —The state racing commission announced today that a meeting to consider 1947 racing dates had been postponed from Feb. 14 to Feb. 19.

TENSION GROWS IN PALESTINE

Arab Proposal to 'Liquidate Terrorists' Draws Angry Reply From Jews.

By JAMES E. BROWN

LONDON —(A.P.)— With breakdown of the Palestine conference considered imminent in London, Arab-Jewish tension was highlighted today by statements from Arab leaders declaring they "would liquidate Jewish terrorism" if the British withdraw from Palestine, and angry acceptance of this challenge by Jewish leaders.

* * *

Favors Harsh Policy.

Leading Arab league representative, Iraq Foreign Minister Dr. Jamali El Husseini told International News Service in an exclusive statement:

"The only way out of the present impasse is acceptance of the Arab scheme for Palestine. The British are far too soft with the Jews. We Arabs stand ready to liquidate Jewish terrorism, and we know how to do it. The world must not believe the Jews can scare us. We would hang all the terrorists."

Replying to this bellicose statement, Dr. Nahum Goldman, member of the Jewish Agency Executive, told International News Service:

"If the Arabs feel as strongly as Dr. Jamali says, the Jews would be perfectly willing to have the British withdraw from Palestine. Let the Jews stay alone in Palestine with the Arabs, and we will see what will happen."

Jamali further stated:

"I am deeply distressed by the fact that Zionist propaganda is rampant in the United States. The Jews are exploiting American misguided humanitarian sentiments, and Americans do not know the Arab point of view. We have no means of counter-acting the heavily-subsidized Zionist propaganda."

Goldman replied:

"American sympathy for Zionism is based upon uninterrupted tradition. All presidents from Wilson to Truman have stated again and again the sympathy felt in the United States for Zionism. To speak of misguided humanitarian sentiments which are being exploited by the Jews shows a lack of knowledge of America."

HERBERT STAYS OUT OF CITY'S FIGHT

COLUMBUS — (INS) — Gov. Herbert will not intervene in the Steubenville gambling situation.

Herbert said today that Jefferson county Common Pleas Judges Carl A. Weinman and Arthur L. Hooper joined in telling him that the prosecutor has sufficient funds to proceed with his own investigation and that the probe is going forward without the necessity of state help.

Gun In Chicken Coop Worse Than China Shop Bull

UPPER SANDUSKY — (U.P.) — Poultry farmer William Mann heard suspicious noises in his hen house. Hastily donning underwear and slippers, he seized his double-barrelled shotgun and went gunning for "those doggone chicken thieves."

With shotgun ready, he stopped and peered into the henhouse. His big black coon dog came rushing playfully up from behind, banged into the master. The shotgun went off—both barrels.

Mann has 26 dead hens.

SCHOOLS OPEN AS COLD EASES GRIP ON AREA

Crews Clear Main Highways In County; Mercury Climbs Back to Normal.

The winter's longest cold wave, which has griped the Mansfield area for more than a week, showed signs of easing today as the mercury climbed into the 20's before noon.

Richland county schools, closed yesterday by snowdrifts which blocked many county roads, reopened this morning after state and county highway crews cleared major county highways.

At the same time, the Ohio Fuel Gas company announced that "due to moderation of the weather" it was lifting restrictions on use of gass by its commercial and domestic consumers.

No major shutdown was caused by the shortage in Mansfield. More than 400 workers, however, were thrown out of work in Bucyrus when the General Electric company plant there was closed for five days because of the fuel shortage.

* * *

Forecast Optimistic.

For the first time in more than a week, the weatherman issued an optimistic forecast. He cheerfully predicted rising temperatures today, and said the mercury would remain "at a seasonable level" for at least a few days.

He tempered his optimism, however, by warning that more snow was in sight for tomorrow. But he said that if the sun today works hard enough, much of the accumulation of snow would be melted by tonight.

As a gentle southern breeze and sunny skies aided Ohio workers in clearing blocked roads and slippery sidewalks, the state and nation counted the toll of the winter's worst cold wave.

Some 50 Cleveland area Boy Scouts were back safely in their homes after being marooned yesterday in farmhouses along State Route 608 near the Mather reservation in Lake county.

Snowplows pushed through 15-foot drifts late yesterday to clear the road and enable the youths to return to their homes. The scouts were caught in the snow storm after leaving the camp, where they had spent Saturday night in Quonset huts.

The intense cold closed factories from Milwaukee, Wis., to Birmingham, Ala. Florida, after another night of subfreezing temperatures, began totaling up crop damage. Temperatures last night dropped to 26 at Jacksonville.

* * *

Florida Hit Hard.

Effective at midnight today, the Florida citrus commission banned all shipments of fresh fruit from the state. The commission wants to prevent damaged fruit from reaching northern and injuring Florida's reputation for "good, edible, high quality fruit," according to a spokesman.

A new cold air mass was reported in Canada, but U. S. meteorologists said it would have no effect on U. S. temperatures for several days except along the northern border.

WORKERS RUSH TO GET PLACE IN DOLE LINE

Churchill Rules Out Chance of Coalition Government During Fuel Crisis.

LONDON—(AP)—Talk of a coalition government to steer freezing, fuel-short Britain through a desperate economic crisis was junked today as more than 4,000,000 Britons went jobless because of factory shutdowns ordered to save coal.

The return of the dole—with its grim associations linking it to the dark days of unemployment between wars—was the hardest blow to the morale of stoic Britons.

Those of the 4,000,000 idle not covered by union guaranteed-wage contracts began queueing up for government insurance of $4.80 a week for a man, plus a little more for a wife and children.

Opposition Leader Winston Churchill belligerently blaming the Labor government for the current coal shortage during bitter debate last night in the house of commons, slammed the door on such speculation with the curt declaration: "No coalition."

Hugh Dalton, Laborite chancellor of the exchequer, made it clear at the same time that Prime Minister Attlee's government would not consent to such a coalition either.

* * *

Withholds Censure.

Nevertheless, Churchill withheld "for another day" a motion for parliamentary censure of the government which he had been expected to make. He accused the government of "incompetence in high places" for its handling of the crisis which has shut down more than half of England's factories, but urged the public to cooperate in a power conservation program to avert economic disaster.

Stock prices dipped fractionally on the London exchange at today's opening under liquidation prompted by the industrial shutdown, but there was no indication of distress selling.

The possibility that Britain might have to buy coal from the United States to ease the shortage was discussed in London papers today. The fuel and power ministry declined comment on reported negotiations in Washington for the purchase of coal.

Attlee, gravely attributing the coal crisis to the severest winter in 50 years, told the British in a nationwide broadcast last night that he was confident "we will come through this if we pull together."

* * *

Action Saves Coal.

Estimates of the coal saved ranged from 25 to 75 per cent of normal consumption as a result of the first day's total power cuts to industry and the five-hour cut to domestic users.

Both conservatives and laborites had their eyes on a by-election today in Yorkshire's Normanton division, expected to serve as a handy gauge of public opinion on the coal crisis. Socialist G. O. Sylvester, a mine union official, opposes Conservative J. E. Powell, a Birmingham professor, and W. D. Hartley, Independent.

Fuel Minister Emanuel Shinwell, under heavy fire for his handling of the coal supplies, reiterated his belief that the power embargo would last "possibly a week" but emphasized that the length of the crisis depended on the cold wave which has blocked rail lines with snow, closed some mines by freezing machinery and held many coal ships in port.

The unfriendly weather, which brought a thaw Sunday night, turned to freezing again last night and forecasters predicted more snow on the way.

Attlee said in his broadcast that the weather, depleted coal stock piles caused by the war, the absence of miners from the pits and resumption of peace-time industry all had combined to cause the crippling shortage.

MAYOR URGES VOTE ON SUBWAY BOOST

NEW YORK— (INS) —The question of boosting the price of a subway ride from five to ten cents appeared today to be headed for a decision by a vote of the people.

Public hearings on the proposal to raise the New York subway fare were to continue today in city hall but Mayor William O'Dwyer said last night that he thought the question should be decided by the people themselves. He added that a referendum on the fare should be ordered for November by the New York state legislature over the signature of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey.

It was indicated at yesterday's public hearing that Mayor O'Dwyer is opposed to increasing the five cent fare at this time.

BUSINESS BY CHECK GAINS 21 PER CENT

Checks cashed or otherwise paid by banks in Mansfield during 1946 reached a record volume of $344,916,000, it was reported today by the American Banker.

The figure is 21.2 per cent ahead of the previous record in 1945 and 87 per cent higher than the pre-war total in 1939, an analysis of check debit figures revealed.

The record bank figure provides another indicator of the record volume of business handled in Mansfield last year.

Bank clearings reached a new high of $173,980,051 in Mansfield last year. Sales tax collections also climbed to a new mark, indicating booming retail sales.

For the first time in history checks paid by banks in the 334 cities reporting to the Federal Reserve board passed the trillion dollar mark. The 1946 figure amounted to $1,050,054,000,000, the American Banker states.

FREDERICK C. OTHMAN

Brickbat Hits Thrower

WASHINGTON —(EE)— Brickbats tossed in the air have been known sometimes to conk the throwers on the head. Now go on with my painful story:

Rep. William J. Miller of Conn., was talking about too many federal press agents writing too many press releases on too much scarce paper at too great a cost to the taxpayers in cash and to the Washington correspondents in anguish.

I was listening carefully and saying, amen. Rep. Miller added that 90 per cent of these pronunciamentos never hit print because nobody much was interested in them except their authors. "True," I said to myself. And then I had one of my infrequent ideas: I'd investigate the contents of my own wastebasket and thus bolster Rep. Miller's charges with the evidence. H-m-m-m-m-m.

It pains me to say so, but truth is truth and about half of the crumpled documents I found in my trash can came from the talented pens of congressmen. On the top of the pile was an essay of high literary quality by Rep. Richard E. Harless of Arizona on the heroism of John Paul Jones. It was published by the government printing office at the expense of the congressman.

* * *

SEN. ELBERT D. THOMAS of Utah contributed two pages of his mimeographed remarks anent the 100th anniversary of the Settlement of Utah and mentioned the premiere of a motion picture called "Ramrod," having to do with same. This cinema was produced by Harry Sherman, who used to be known as king of the horse oprys; I have no doubt it is as excellent entertainment as the senator claims.

Half way down in my wastebasket, along with some handouts from the British embassy, the royal Egyptian government, the war department and the Flax and Fiber Publishing Co., I came across a 600-word statement by Sen. James E. Murray of Mont. He doubted whether small businessmen will survive much longer, unless they get a break. Sen. Murray sent also a progress report on the work of his small business committee, a book which ran 379 pages.

I found a speech of Rep. Fred Hartley of Mich., about his investigations into lend-lease of Liberty ships to Great Britain and Russia. Sen. Alexander Wiley of Wis., sent me his address, and good reading it was, too, about atomic bomb control.

Rep. Leo E. Allen of Ill., explained in print his sliding scale tax reduction plan.

A few other lawmakers sent along a few other press releases. If this has embarrassed Rept. Miller I can only refer him, sorrowfully, to my opening statement about brickbats.

WESTBROOK PEGLER

Denies Bilbo Defense

Pursuant to the smear technique of the Red Fascist bunds of New York, Washington and Hollywood, I find myself accused of having defended Senator Bilbo, of Mississippi, the Columbians, of Atlanta, Ga., and Fritz Kuhn, late leader of the Nazi conspiracy against the United States.

I have explained that Senator Bilbo is a Roosevelt, New Deal senator, which certainly is no defense of him according to my lights, and have contended that he is no worse than Congressman Vito Marc-Antonio or Senator Robert F. Wagner, of New York, the sponsor of the pernicious and fraudulent labor relations law whose stated purpose was to abate labor disputes but resulted in the most turbulent and dangerous civil commotions of our time, one of which President Roosevelt denounced as a violent insurrection against popular government.

If it is a defense of Bilbo to concede all the nastiness that has been attributed to him by his northern enemies, including the Communists, to find him no more ungentlemanly than those picturesque and beloved partisans of the Roosevelt following, Harold L. Ickes and Fiorello La Guardia, and to review the historical background of reconstruction days, I am guilty as charged.

However, I hold that Bilbo is entitled to a trial on charges, and that in the hearing of the evidence against him, this being a political issue, the inconsistency and hypocrisy of those who decry lynch law and yet would lynch Bilbo, deserve consideration by way of showing that they do not come into court with clean hands.

* * *

AS TO THE COLUMBIANS, my defense of them has been only that they are smaller and less cunning and efficient in espionage, the boycott and intimidation than some of the very organizations which exulted in the expose of the Columbians and are therefore less dangerous. I may have overlooked the fact, in which case I advert to it now, for it is a fact, that New York and Washington organizations which live by espionage against the privacy of individuals and organizations, have actually fomented incidents and situations in southern areas deliberately calculated to inflame susceptible white persons and cause them to "organize" in order that these northern provocateurs and sneaks might then exploit these difficulties as "fascism."

This they do so that they may then solicit contributions from fearful and hysterical citizens in the north for their noble work of combatting native fascism.

I cannot imagine what Fritz Kuhn could have had in mind if he ever said, as he is reported to have said, and possibly by some enemy of mine, that I was the only American newspaper man who ever gave him a break. It may have been, however, my distrust of the oblique method by which he was destroyed. Kuhn was, like so many Communists and other subscribers to the New York espionage organizations, an enemy of our government and I thought he should have been punished for that under appropriate laws, instead of which we got him for entertaining a woman on funds which belonged to the bund and sent him to prison for embezzlement or forgery.

I observe that we have seldom invoked the same laws against rascals of the union racket who gave such hearty political and financial support to the Roosevelt party and submit that it is contemptible to nail a man for parking by a hydrant when he ought to be tried for murder.

WALTER WINCHELL

British Face Problems

IT IS NOT a bit too early to begin facing up to the fact that in the United Kingdom and in the Empire the postwar difficulties are appearing faster than solutions can be found and applied. A crisis of great dimension is manifestly in the making which, if it were allowed to run its course, could shake the world and make our own position highly vulnerable and precariously isolated.

There is no mistaking the signs which are the warning of that crisis. They are that the Canadian and American credits, which were intended to last until at least 1951, are not going to be sufficient to see the British through the period of reconstruction in the British Isles and of liquidation and reorganization in the vast regions of their imperial commitments in the Mediterranean and southern Asia.

The Canadian credit, it is now indicated, will be used up within a year; the American within two years.

Thus, not later than 1948, while we are preoccupied with a presidential election, the issue will probably be posed as to what we can do to prevent the British crisis or what we shall do if we don't.

* * *

THE TASK which the peoples in the British Isles have had to set themselves is beyond anything which a free people has ever attempted in time of peace. They are trying to earn enough to maintain an austere standard of life at home and to support their far-flung commitments abroad.

To make themselves solvent in this sense, they need to produce and sell for export abroad 175% of what they exported in 1938. They are trying to do this with free labor, that is to say without the compulsion of wartime or of a totalitarian state.

They are asking this extraordinary effort from a people who are tired from the immense strain of the war, who have had little rest or recreation from the nerve-wracking exertions and anxieties which they endured when they stood virtually alone. They are attempting to do it with an industrial plant which was, for the most part, none too modern and under war conditions could not be adequately maintained.

Moreover, they are being asked to do all this in a great hurry, that is to say before the Canadian and American credits are used up. The time is too short. The margin on which they are operating is too thin. That is shown by the fact that they are spending their credits much faster than they planned to spend them. The plain truth is that they need more time and more help, and if they do not get them, the position in the United Kingdom and in the Empire will, in a year or so, be critical.

* * *

IF THIS CRISIS is not prevented, it will almost certainly produce a radical change in the internal life of the British Isles and, at the same time, a forced and disorderly liquidation of so many British external commitments that the whole situation in Europe, Africa and Asia will become inordinately more difficult to manage peaceably.

The moderate and gradual Socialism which is now being put into effect in Britain will not, as some may vainly suppose, be replaced by a return to what we call free enterprise. In the condition of scarcity which will exist, much more drastic government compulsion is sure to be necessary, and it will be applied. For free enterprise is a system which works only when there is security and plenty.

The abandonment of the British type of free, moderate and gradual Socialism will force western Europe to abandon it also. This may not mean the acceptance of the Communist method. It is more likely to mean that the middle parties will become submerged, and that there will ensue a fierce struggle between the extremists of Right and Left.

M'GREGOR ASKS FOR PROBE OF CAR SHORTAGE

Congressman Blames Agencies For Shipping Handicap.

Congressman J. Harry McGregor, who represents Richland county in Washington, today asked for a congressional investigation of the shortage of freight cars which he termed of "emergency proportions."

He declared that there is an acute situation in eastern and east central states and blamed the Interstate Commerce commission and the Office of Defense Transportation, the Associated Press said.

"Industries are closing, thousands of workers are being forced to remain idle and various programs essential to our economic life are being halted," the representative declared.

His call for an investigation follows a probe already started in the U. S. senate and contemplated in Ohio by the Ohio Chamber of Commerce.

Last week Mansfield industrial leaders and railroad officials said the boxcar shortage was the worst in years. One plant reported it was receiving only 40 per cent of the cars needed.

ODT spokesmen said they were attempting to equalize distribution of the scarce cars to all parts of the country in order to protect all phases of the national economy. Trucking firms operating in and through Mansfield reported they are swamped with requests for transportation from local industries.

TAYLORS HURT IN CAR MISHAP

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Taylor, former Mansfield residents, are in serious condition at University hospital, Columbus, following a traffic accident near Plain City.

Taylor suffered severe head and face injuries, and Mrs. Taylor, the former Jane Williams, suffered a broken nose and foot.

Mr. and Mrs. Taylor were en route home to Dayton from Mansfield Friday when their car was involved in a collision with one driven by a Cleveland man who was headed north. State patrolmen said the Cleveland car apparently skidded on the slippery paving and crashed into the Taylor car.

Mrs. Taylor is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul W. Williams, of Dayton. Williams, former secretary of the Chamber of Commerce here, now holds a similar position with the Dayton Chamber of Commerce.

Taylor is the son of Glenn W. Taylor, 104 West First street. The elder Taylor and Mrs. Taylor went to Columbus immediately, although the father was just released from General hospital Friday after receiving treatment for a severe hand injury.

They returned to Mansfield for today but will go back to Columbus tonight or Wednesday.

SCOUTS RULE FOR DAY AT ASHLAND

Celebrations in Ashland and Galion opened Boy Scout week Monday in the Mansfield area. Scout-o-rama and rally were scheduled today.

Ashland Scouts yesterday took over the city, manning the city offices, as their part of Scout Week observances. Led by Scout Mayor Richard Dilgard, the boys sat in on important city meetings, planned ways of improving the city management, and studied the workings of the city's various departments.

In Galion, 18 Scouts and their dads attended a dinner at the Galion high school as guests of the Galion Lions club. Lion president C. O. Butner welcomed the guests. Evening's entertainment consisted of films shown by Charles Kimmel, area commissioner.

The Galion Scout-o-rama opens at the Galion Peace Lutheran Parish house at 7 p. m. today. It will consist of various scout and cub drafts and exhibits. An open invitation has been extended to the whole Johnny Appleseed area to attend the lay-outs.

Crestline scouts will hold their annual rally and hamburger fry at the Crestline High school at 6:30 p. m. today. All scouts, cubs and their families are invited.

Services Set For Mrs. Smith

Private funeral services for Mrs. Anna Hering Smith will be held at the Finefrock funeral home at 2:30 p. m. tomorrow, with Rev. Samuel U. J. Peard, rector of Grace Episcopal church, officiating. Burial will be in Mansfield cemetery.

Mrs. Smith died Saturday night at her home, 700 Park avenue west.

Surviving are her husband, C. D. Smith, and three sisters, Mrs. J. S. Wainwright, Mrs. Margaret Graves, and Mrs. Horace Sanford.

Friends may call at the funeral home.

A FAR CRY from a modern record player is this 40-year-old Edison phonograph, owned by George W. Harmony, principal of Johnny Appleseed junior high school. But Janet Widders, 218 Poplar street, and Carol Blust, Holly drive, pupils at the school, enjoyed hearing old tunes on the phonograph. The original horn on the phonograph was given away, so Harmony made this one last week.

JOHNNY APPLESEED PUPILS HEAR 40-YEAR-OLD EDISON PHONOGRAPH

By GEORGE COMINOS

When the Johnny Appleseed junior high school observed the 100th anniversary of the birth of Thomas A. Edison with a brief program today, pupils heard one of the early phonographs manufactured by Edison's company.

Principal George W. Harmony, who owns the 40-year-old phonograph, played some of the popular tunes of the early 1900's over the school's public address system as a part of the Edison day program.

* * *

THE PHONOGRAPH, manufactured by Edison's National Phonograph company of Orange, N. J., uses cylindrical records. With a horn that resembles a megaphone, the phonograph is a replica of the one invented by Edison in the 1880's.

Out of the horns of these phonographs came some of the first musical pieces ever preserved on wax.

Harmony said he, his brother and father contributed toward buying the machine back in 1906 when they were living near Lakeside, O.

He recalled that it was bought by mail from a Chicago concern and delivered by express.

At the time, the record player owned by the Harmonys was the only one in town. Many townspeople would crowd into the house while the elder Harmony ran the machine for hours at a time. The overflow audience had "to hang outside on the picket fence," to hear the latest music of the day, Harmony said.

The records, he said, cost 35 cents apiece. The 100 records he has include waltzes, marches and several Uncle Josh records and some comic Irish tunes. One is called "Flanagan's Mother-in-Law."

THE NEEDLE—still the original one of 40 years ago—has a sapphire point. It moves from left to right as the cylindrical record revolves.

The phonograph has a brush just ahead of the needle to clear the record of dust.

A spring motor, not unlike motors on portable phonographs, turns the cylinder.

The records, made of a wax composition, are more fragile than today's records. Both two-minute and four-minute records may be played.

* * *

THE ORIGINAL HORN was given away by the elder Harmony some years ago to a man experimenting with something new for those days—a radio.

The horn now in use was made by Harmony.

Six patents on the machine start with October, 1888, and run through October, 1905, an inscription says.

4-Ton Trailer Stolen From Parking Lot

Anybody see a four-ton trailer?

Westinghouse Electric corporation yesterday reported a huge orange colored trailer missing. It was taken from the company's East Third street lot.

Westinghouse police told Mansfield police yesterday that the $2,800 vehicle was last seen at the lot Feb. 3.

It wasn't listed as stolen until yesterday because company officials were checking various parking locations to see if it had been "mislaid."

When the cargo-less trailer turned up missing they decided somebody must have backed up a truck and made off with it.

Now Mansfield police have joined in the search. The company said the trailer has an orange body and yellow top and is 28 feet long. It did not carry the company's familiar "W" insignia, officials said.

DILL RETAINED AS LOAN PRESIDENT

Fred W. Dill, Bellville, R. D. 1, was re-elected president of the Richland County National Farm Loan association at a meeting last night at the association's Mansfield office.

Hugh Osbun, Mansfield, R. D. 1, was elected vice-president, and Vance Clever, Mansfield, R. D. 6, was re-elected secretary-treasurer for the 21st time.

Named to the loan committee were Osbun and G. D. Rader, Mansfield, R. D. 6. Alternate members selected were Fred W. Dill, Fred C. Dawson, Shiloh, and Carl A. Baker, Greenwich, R. D. 2.

FARM COSTS SHOW BIG GAIN

It costs $7,230 to equip the average farm with modern machinery, and the value of machinery per acre has increased from $1.38 an acre in 1890 to more than $29 an acre, members of the short course class in vocational agriculture at Union Rural high school were told last night.

The cost figures were reported by Horace Uhl, Richland county representative of the Production Credit association.

Uhl told the group the need for short-time credit has been on the increase. Reason for this, he said, is that "farmers have turned to specialization."

He explained that "less farm and home needs are now grown by farmers. The American farm has changed from a self-sustaining unit to a commercial farm business."

Other reasons for increases in short-term loans were listed as "big increases in the price of machinery, fertilizer, feed and labor."

Uhl said that farm machinery in the United States was valued at $750 million dollars in 1900. The figure jumped to three billion, 600 million in 1920, he said.

GOAL IN F. H. DRIVE TOPPED BY $6,740

The Friendly House building campaign went "over the top" by $6,740. In a final report today on the recent campaign, Paul Endriss, chairman, said $66,740 was realized.

The final list of donors included Dominion Electric, $789; Ohio Brass, $7,869; Wesinghouse, $1,213; Ideal Electric, $133; Kresge, $50; Robert P. Spreng post No. 26, Amvets, $25; Women's Guild of First Presbyterian church, $25; Mansfield Savings Trust National bank, $150; Fraternal Order of Police, $50; Hughes-Keenan, $50; Neisner Brothers, $50; Telling-Belle Vernon and employes, $29; St. Mark's Lutheran Sunday school, $25; Bloodgoods, $25; Mansfield Federation of Teachers, $10; Albert Gerke chapter 37th Division association, $10; Old-age pensioners, $10; Child Study club, $10; Mizpah Bible club, $10; Delta Theta Tau Alumnae chapter, $5.

FLAMES DAMAGE GLOBE STEEL PLANT

Fire damaged a pumphouse and wiring at the Globe Steel Abrasive company, First avenue, last night, firemen reported. The blaze, which broke out about 7 p. m., apparently started in the pumphouse electrical system, firemen said.

Early today firemen were called to the home of G. M. Anderson, 176 East Fourth street, where a blocked chimney forced smoke into the house. The call came about 8 a. m.

About 9:30 p. m. yesterday firemen went to a business block at Marion and Vennum avenues where a chimney was burning out. There was no damage, firemen said.

Up and Down The Street

CHANGES ROUTINE—

Even a policeman's job gets boring, at times. And when this happens a cop can be forgiven for attempting to put a little "color" in his routine reports. Probably the most run-of-the-mill job a policeman has is arresting drunks. The arrest at a hotel today of a man who imbibed too freely would have been run-of-the-mill had the arresting officer not added a little color. He wrote: "The man came into the lobby, fell against the venetian blinds and then proceeded to woo Morpheus in one of the lobby chairs." With tongue in cheek, the officer concluded his report: "Owing to the uneven nature of the lobby floor the man was unable to navigate so he was brought to the station and charged with intoxication."

NAVY NEEDS ROOM—

The navy is looking for a radio room in downtown Mansfield. Division 195, organized reserve, urgently needs a room near the memorial building where trainees can set up and operate the radio equipment which provides a part of the elaborate training division men receive. Minimum size required is eight by eight, Cmdr. A. E. Heiser, Mansfield reserve director, said. That's just enough to house three or four navy "hams" and the apparatus. Cmdr. Heiser or Chief J. T. Daley of the navy recruiting station, post office building, will handle information about possible quarters for the radio station.

FUN OVER A SONG—

Courthouse employes today were hoping that Richard—the one who doesn't open the door in that new song—appreciates what Marie Ellen Campbell did for him. Her Good Samaritan deed landed the county auditor's pretty deputy in the bastille for about three minutes today. Seems that Marie, sorrowful over poor Richard's fate, wangled dimes out of the county employes and gave them in return slips of paper that informed them they had just contributed to a fund "to help Richard open that door." One of the sheriff's deputies was "outraged." He swore that she "swindled" him and wrote out a fake warrant for her arrest. The deputy handcuffed her and took her into custody. But after Marie good-naturedly had cooled her heels in the jail for a few minutes she was released because Atty. John Kramer, whose name was listed on the warrant as complainant, "refused" to push the charges. The incident ended with a big laugh, mostly on Marie.

Death Takes C. H. Bowman

Clarence H. Bowman, 33, died this morning at his home, 872 South Main street, after an illness of three months.

He was born in Mansfield, Sept. 21, 1913, and had spent his entire life here. Mr. Bowman was an employe of the Westinghouse Electric corporation where he had been a group leader. He was a member of St. Paul's Lutheran church.

Surviving are his wife, Margaret, two sons, Larry Gene and Richard Lee, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Bowman, all of Mansfield.

Services will be held at the Wappner funeral home Thursday at 3 p. m., in chareg of Rev. Herman L. Gilbert, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran church. Burial will be in the Mansfield cemetery.

INSANITY PLEA TO BE ENTERED, DEFENSE SAYS

Attorneys to Waive Jury In Case Against Mansfield Steelworker.

Attorneys for Michael Kalis, 52-year-old Mansfield steel worker, charged with the slaying of his wife and son, said today they would ask that his case be heard by a panel of three judges and would plead him innocent by reason of insanity.

Attys. C. H. Freehafer and Glenn W. Marriott, who will defend Kalis, said they would waive trial by jury. The case is expected to be heard later this month.

An automatic plea of not guilty was entered in the Kalis case Jan. 25 when the prisoner told Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch he could not remember events of Oct. 17, date when he allegedly shot to death his wife, Helen, and son, John, in a family quarrel at their home, 388 Springmill street.

Changing the plea to not guilty by reason of insanity sets up the claim that Kalis was not responsible for his actions at the time, attorneys said.

* * *

Examined at Lima.

Already examined for his mental condition at the Lima state hospital, Kalis was reported by R. E. Bushong, superintendent of the hospital, as apparently insane when the crime was committed but sane when examined at Lima.

If found innocent by reason of insanity, Kalis would be committed back to the Lima hospital until such time as it is determined his reason is restored. If it be decided that his reason is restored he could be relased as a free man.

With waiver of the jury, trial date probably can not be set before the last week in February because of the need for securing two other common pleas judges to sit in the case, Judge Kalbfleisch said.

Meanwhile, criminal trials by jury have been scheduled for seven other defendants this week and the week of Feb. 24.

Trial of Robert Briggs, 28-year-old member of a gang accused of attacking Mansfield women, will be held tomorrow at 9 a. m. He has pleaded not guilty to a charge of robbery. He will be defended by Atty. George W. Biddle.

Other trial dates, the defendants and the charges against them include:

Thursday—Jasper Robert Baker, shooting with intent to wound; and Edward J. Koloze, breaking and entering.

Friday—Clarence Black, first degree manslaughter; and Howard E. Niman, receiving stolen property.

Monday (Feb. 24)—James Howe (alias James H. Howard), attempted breaking and entering.

Tuesday (Feb. 25)— Charles Tabb, attempted breaking an entering.

Freehafer said also that Rocco John Restagno, accused of operating a motor vehicle without the owner's consent, will be arraigned Friday although the court has not yet scheduled that case. Restagno was released yesterday from General hospital where he was confined after an appendectomy.

TVA Faces Damage Suit for $150,000

JACKSON, Tenn. —(UP)— A $150,000 damage suit charging the Tennessee Valley Authority with violation of civil rights has been filed in federal court here by 21 plaintiffs. The suit was believed to be the first of its kind against TVA.

The bill charged TVA violated the fifth amendment pertaining to civil rights by assuming and "exercising at will" the right to flood lands in Hardin and McNairy counties on which it had no flood rights or easements.

Building Code Plan Expected To Be Ready for Council Soon

Plans for a Mansfield building code aren't dead, Councilman Fred Miller revealed today.

Two main problems delaying the completion of the code are:

1. The number of persons needed to man a proposed building inspection department.

2. The fee to be charged for inspections.

Miller, who heads a special code-drafting committee, said he favors a three-man department, including one clerk and two inspectors. He also favors a "per building" inspection fee, he said.

The fees should be scaled so that the department would be on a self-supporting basis, Miller said.

He said, however, his committee would meet soon to discuss the two problems. Then the code draft could be submitted to council, he said. His committee includes Councilman Russell Porch and Charles N. Shultz.

* * *

Jones Draws Plans.

Plans for the oft-stymied code have been under way for months. Herbert S. Jones, Mansfield architect, is preparing them.

The code was nearing completion, Miller said, when the problem of inspection personnel popped up.

In an effort to solve the fee and personnel questions, Miller said his committee will study codes used in other Ohio cities. On hand are copies of codes used in Columbus, Warren, Youngstown, Springfield, Canton and Lorain.

Warren and Lorain, most nearly like Mansfield from a population standpoint, have four-man inspection departments.

The Warren department includes building, plumbing and electrical inspectors, plus one clerk. The Lorain department has four inspectors, including an assistant electrical inspector.

According to the Lorain code, it pays its building inspector $4,088 a year; its electrical inspector $3,432; its assistant electrical inspector $2,804, and its plumbing inspector $3,571.

The Lorain electrical inspector works out of the fire and police departments and the plumbing inspector out of the health department.

Miller said he believes the Mansfield department should be consolidated with the two inspectors qualified to make all types of inspections. Various construction and installation permits also should be issued by the department, Miller believes.

M'KINLEY ONLY OTHER HOME TILT ON SLATE

Preliminary Encounter Opens Program at 7 P. M.

Mansfield Senior high Tyger basketballers look forward tonight to another of the tough battles that have been the rule on the local hardwood this season.

The Bengal cagers meet Lorain in the next to last home game of the 1946-47 schedule. A preliminary clash between the Lorain reserves and the Tyger sophomores opens the cage twin-bill at 7 p. m.

Only other home game on the schedule is listed for Friday, Feb. 21, when the super-strong Canton McKinley aggregation plays here.

Two Lettermen.

Lorain has only two lettermen returning off the club that downed the Bengals last year, 53 to 51. The vets are George Simonovich, center, and Tony Ciarrone, guard. Other starters are Dick Pheil and Louis Krul, forwards, and Jack McVey, guard.

Simonovich made three and Ciarrone seven points against the Tygers in 1946. However, Simonovich also played in the reserve contest getting 20 markers while Krul picked up 18 in that contest.

Ollie Cline and Ralph Majors played against Lorain last year. Cline notched eight tallies and Majors two.

Hoffman has been experimenting with a couple of new combinations but will probably go along with his regular lineup of Cline, Majors, Nick Gagich, Chuck Sisco and Tommy Bloor. Shelley Swank and Phil Pittinger may be in there, however.

Lorain and Mansfield have met three common foes. Lorain defeated Elyria, 43 to 40, and edged Sandusky by five points while losing to Bellevue, 40 to 41.

Mansfield topped Elyria, 35 to 34, and lost to Bellevue, 47 to 43, and Sandusky, 29 to 35.

The Tygers have not played their best brand of ball since tripping Warren Harding and Ashland two weeks ago.

Mansfield 'Y' Tops Ashland

Mansfield Senior YMCA rifle team defeated the Ashland rifle team in a league shoot on the Mansfield "Y" range.

The victory was the first of the season for the Mansfield shooters in league competition and marked Ashland's first loss.

Walter Good of Ashland led the individuals with a 279 while James Myers of Mansfield had 278. Good and Beverly Phallen, Mansfield, each had a "possible" from the prone position.

Big 9 Coaches Shifting Jobs On All Fronts

CHICAGO —(INS)— Football players stood around today and watched Big Nine coaches maneuver into a shift—the shifting of jobs.

When they get through the lineup may look like this:

Michigan—Fritz Crisler off to take the gridiron coaching job at the University of California.

Ohio State—Wesley Fesler, brilliant Buckeye athlete of other years, taking the precarious mentoring post.

Isbell Leaves.

Purdue—Ralph "Pest" Welch succeeding Cecil Isbell, who yesterday departed to take over as head man of the Baltimore Colts in the All-America professional conference.

Iowa—Eddie Anderson becoming athletic director as replacement for Ernest G. "Dad" Schroeder, who resigned effective July 1. Anderson, former Notre Dame star, is the Hawkeyes' current coach.

Crisler, returning to Ann Arbor last night after talking with University of California officials, indicated he will make known this week his decision on the California offer.

The name most often heard at Michigan is Earl Blaik, present Army coach and former Michigan athlete.

Boilermaker adherents immediately began mentioning Ralph "Pest" Welch for Isbell's job. Welch, now head coach at the University of Washington, is one of Purdue's all-time great backfield luminaries.

The Iowa change is one that finds Schroeder, who has been connected with the school since 1907, resigning after 10 years as athletic director. He intends to continue on the athletic staff, devoting his time to teaching.

Plumber Quintet Racks Up 11th Win In F-H Cage Loop

Mansfield Plumbers made it 11 in a row in the Junior league at the Friendly House last night. The Plumbers pounded Roseland into submission, 23 to 15.

In the other league encounters, Marshall Market breezed past Saprano's cigar store, 30 to 16, and the Wild Cats defeated the Junior Optimists, 31 to 17.

Kibler, Mansfield Plumbers center, led the individual scorers with 10 points.

Pirates Purchase Bagby From Bo-Sox

PITTSBURGH — (INS) — Jim Bagby, jr., right-handed pitcher, was purchased today from the Boston Red Sox by the Pittsburgh Pirates.

As in the Hank Greenberg case, the Bucs picked Bagby up after other teams in the American league had sent in waivers on him. The purchase price, however, was believed to be more than the $10,000 waiver price.

Bagby, 30, won seven and lost six for the American league champions last year. His eight-year record in the majors with Cleveland and Boston shows 92 wins and 92 losses.

Upper Arlington, Bryan Only Unbeaten A Teams

By JOHN BARRINGTON, INS Sports Writer

With most of the state's 821 class "B" tourney teams beginning their elimination series, class "A" teams caught the fever this week and stepped up their own competition.

The "A" clubs, with approximately a month remaining in their regular schedules, had some notable class "B" examples to follow. Frazeysburg, for instance, ran its pre-tourney victory string to 20 in a row last week-end with victories over Dresden, 66-55, and Zanesville St. Nicholas, 53-28.

New Holland registered its 19th straight against scholastic competition and its 20th counting an alumni triumph. Last week-end's victim was Ashville, 53 to 30.

Schmidt Gets 32.

And Bluffton narrowly missed a new county scoring record for the season as it registered its 16th in a row over Van Wert, 83 to 34. Neil Schmidt, Bluffton's brilliant star, scored 32 points.

Those were only three of many outstanding class "B" quintets. While class "A" ranks were poorer in undefeated teams, they were wealthy in the traditional dark-horses.

The unbeaten class started and ended with Upper Arlington and Bryan. Bryan rang up its 14th in a row, 55 to 46, over Wauseon while Upper Arlington's week-end featured a 52-31 conquest of Columbus St. Charles.

Canton McKinley, Salem and Cleveland Benedictine, dumped unceremoniously from the select list last week, all made strong comebacks.

McKinley scored a double triumph, 62-39 over Canton Timken and 60-23 over Youngstown Wilson, making its seasonal record 14 wins and one loss. The Wilson game, however, cost the services of Forward Lee Howell, possibly for the rest of the season, with an ankle injury.

Salem subdued East Palestine, 61-32, for its 12th win in 13 starts. Benedictine downed Cleveland Collinwood, 37 to 30.

Massillon Splits.

Massillon and East Liverpool, conquerors of McKinley and Salem respectively a week earlier, had contrasting experiences last week-end. The Potters smashed Steubenville, 54 to 49, for their 15th victory in 17 games. Massillon, however, split with a 45-43 loss to Alliance and a 50-43 win from Canton Lincoln.

Middletown, defending class "A" titlist, also broke even to run its rather indifferent 1946-47 record to 10-and-5. The Middies defeated Portsmouth, 44-36, but were edged by Xenia Central, 40-39.

Newark moved ahead in the Central Ohio league with a 44-39 victory over Lancaster while Dover was losing to Coshocton, 57-51. Newark followed with a 56-30 rout of Dayton Roosevelt the next night.

Other teams adding to the credit side of impressive ledgers included Canton Lehman (13-1) and Ashland (12-2). Walnut Hills clinched the Cincinnati Public High School league with a 60-37 rout of Western Hills, and Findlay assured itself of the Buckeye loop toga by trouncing Fremont, 49-30, for its tenth in a row.

Toledo Woodward's 48-30 defeat of Scott was city league victory No. 8 against one loss. Central Catholic can tie for the lead if it defeats Macomber in a game tonight.

Fred Negus Signs With Chicago Club

CHICAGO —(INS)— The Chicago Rockets today added the name of Fred Negus, All-Western conference center from the University of Wisconsin, to their roll of players signed for the 1947 season.

Jim Crowley, general manager and coach of the All-America football conference club, said Negus had signed a two-year contract.

The Martins Ferry, O., senior was rated by his coach, Harry Stuhldreher, as among the best centers in the nation last year.

Cleveland Rebels Appoint Clifford

CLEVELAND— (U.P.) —Roy Clifford, Western Reserve university basketball coach for 17 years, today was named head coach of the Cleveland Rebels of the Basketball Association of America.

He replaces Henry (Dutch) Dehnert, who will spend his full time scouting in an effort to bolster the Cleveland team.

Madison Quint Seeks Another Win Over Lucas

Mansfield Madison invades the Lucas court tonight in search of its 11th victory in 13 games.

Coach Jeff DeHaven's Rams defeated Lucas 44 to 27 on the Madison court previously. It was the Rams fifth consecutive victory.

Lucas will have added scoring power this time with the return of Don Stake. Stake is second to Rollin Ford in the Richland county scoring race with 71 field goals and 24 foul shots for 166 points.

* * *

Did Not Play.

In the first Madison-Lucas game, Stake did not play due to a blood infection. Stake has averaged 12.7 in 13 county contests. Gene Orwiler, Lucas guard, has scored 102 points for a 7.9 average. Against Ontario last Friday night, Orwiler netted 15.

DeHaven will rely on Herb Eldridge and Eldon Pritchard for the Rams scoring punch. Eldridge scored 26 points to forge past Pritchard in last Friday night's game with Willard.

Eldridge has compiled 61 two-pointers and 20 gratis heaves for 142 tallies, a 10.9 average. Pritchard tallied 10 in the last game to bring his total to 129 points.

Madison's probable starting lineup will be: Eldridge and Pritchard, forwards; Bob Wilson, center; and Dick Poth and Dick Ernsberger, guards.

Coach W. S. Barger's probable starting line-up follows: Stake and Bob Darling, forwards; Jim McNelly, center; and Orwiler and Jim Banner, guards.

Madison's reserves collide with the Lucas reserves in the preliminary game at 7:15.

Ohio Staters Set Point Mark

COLUMBUS —(INS)— Whatever else they have failed to accomplish over the course of their present indifferent season, Ohio State's Buck cagers could boast a new Coliseum scoring record today.

The Bucks blasted Purdue, 75 to 61, at the fairgrounds arena last night and thereby set an all-time scoring record for a single game. The total was also the Bucks' highest individual mark of the current season.

Ohio took the lead in the opening moments and was never behind. Halftime score was 39 to 27.

Bob Bowen and Jack Underman had 18 and 16 points respectively for the Bucks. Paul Huffman of Purdue, however, had 21 for the evening's top performance.

It was Ohio's fourth victory in 15 games, its third Western conference triumph in five starts and the fourth home success in six games. The Bucks have lost nine straight on the road.

'Y' Loop Lead Might Change

Ontario Community church and Park Avenue Baptist have a golden opportunity to slip into first place in the Senior church league in games tonight at the YMCA.

St. Luke's leads the loop with five wins in six games while Ontario and the Baptists have each won five of seven. Ontario collides with St. Luke's in the headliner at 7 p. m. An Ontario victory coupled with Park Avenue's expected triumph over First Lutheran would shake up the standings.

The Baptists and Lutherans meet in the second tilt. First Lutheran has won only three of seven encounters.

The finale pits cellar-dwelling Mayflower Congregational against First Presbyterian. The Presbyterians have a two and five record.

Lexington vs. Johnsville

LEXINGTON — Lexington and Johnsville high school basketball teams will meet here tonight as scheduled. Lexington is in second place in the Richland county league with nine wins in 13 games. A reserve clash will open the program at 7:30.

Smokehouse Quint Wins Eighth City A Victory

A more experienced, smoother functioning Smokehouse five defeated Barnes Manufacturing 31 to 27 last night in the City A league at Senior high gym.

Smokehouse racked up its eighth victory in nine games and is leading the first division. Barnes dropped to third place in the second division with five wins against four losses.

Previously Barnes was tied with Yunckers Sports and Urschel Insurance for the top spot in the second division.

Playing stellar defensive ball, the Cuemen warded off a last half rally to nip the Barnes team. Smokehouse jumped into a 10 to 3 lead at the end of the first quarter and led at halftime 19 to 13.

Roberts Paces.

Paced by Vic Roberts, Barnes came back in the third quarter and closed in to trail 23 to 21 as the period ended. Roberts led Barnes with eight points. Gene Rudolph played a brilliant defensive game to hold Jack Hammett, leading league scorer to four points.

Ed Chatlain topped the Cuemen scoring with three baskets and five foul shots.

Yunckers jumped into undisputed possession of first place in the second division by dropping American Legion Post 72, 38 to 22. In racking up their sixth win in nine games, the Sports combine led at the quarters 12 to 2, 16 to 6, and 24 to 15.

Bob Bogantz tallied five two-pointers to lead the winners while Ed Woodbury was hitting eight markers for the Legionnaires.

Komito's Clothiers notched their seventh win in eight contests by forging past McCarrick's Gulf, 40 to 25. With the score tied 9 to 9 at the end of the initial period, the Clothiers came back to lead 17 to 11 at the half.

Don Hardy, Komito forward, split the nets for six fielders and two gratis heaves to lead the scoring. Bobby Glasscock and John Snavely tipped in nine points each for the losers.

Conservation Goes On County Basis

COLUMBUS —(INS)— Conservation of fish and wildlife would be placed on a county as well as a state basis under terms of a bill introduced in the house by Reps. Herbert S. Miller and Thomas Rose (R-Butler).

The bill provides for five-member "county conservation councils" appointed by the probate judges of the counties which would be independent of the state conservation commission.

They would receive their operating funds by receiving 25 per cent of all fishing and hunting license fees collected in the county, and 50 per cent of all poaching fines.

Wisconsin Almost Bags Big 9 Title

CHICAGO —(INS)— It was all over but the shootin'—Wisconsin's devilish field goal and free throw shootin'—in the Big Nine cage race today.

Lanky Exner Menzel last night dropped two foul shots through the cords—bang, bang, like that—to bring league-leading Wisconsin from behind to a shivery 52 to 51 triumph over second-place Michigan with two seconds to go in the game.

Rickey Wires Leo Vote of Confidence

BROOKLYN —(AP)— Leo Durocher has a vote of confidence from the man who counts most, Boss Branch Rickey of the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Labeling himself a "Durocher Man," Rickey bluntly denied rumors there might be a managerial change at Ebbets Field in 1947 as the result of "what happened in California."

"Never to a moment have I considered the possibility that Leo might not continue as manager," the Dodgers president said yesterday. "I have wired him that information and he can show the wire to anybody he chooses."

WONDER WHEAT BREAD REDUCING PLAN!

That "Burns Off" Fat Without Drugs or Violent Exercise!

Based on the Same Sound Medical Principle for Slenderizing Proved So Effective by Thousands of Women Everywhere!

NO STARVING! NO DRUGS! NO VIOLENT EXERCISE!

Get At Your Grocer's Now!

What It Is And How It Works

If you are overweight due to excess fat, here now is a way you can reduce to that normally slim, military-looking, trim figure you should have. A way not only proved, but requiring no drugs or violent exercises.

And—unless there is some abnormal condition, in which case you should see a doctor—it is guaranteed to "burn off" excess fat because based on a proved principle of medical science.

Of course, check with your doctor first, and then, in the interest of health and a better figure—why not do now what you know you should do—start today and get rid of some of those ugly rolls of fat that now give you an unsightly "3-Bump" figure.

The whole idea of this plan is to provide good food in an amount which permits you to slenderize without medication or strenuous exercise.

"Burns Off" Excess Fat

There's no dosing with racking salts or drugs you know nothing about. No pulling yourself to pieces with violent exercising. And no fainting on a lettuce leaf. This way you even eat many desserts!

You follow the scientific principle proved by doctors that to reduce safely (avoid acidosis) you must get at least a pound of carbohydrates—which provides "the flame fat burns in"—for every pound of fat you burn off.

Simple and Convenient

And it's all so simple. Any woman who can multiply the weight she would like to be by 15 and then subtract 400 can do it.

It is the famous Wonder Wheat Bread Reducing Plan proved so amazingly effective by thousands of women before the war.

And you can get it at your grocer's with every loaf of pre-war quality Wonder Wheat Bread—containing Vitamin B_1.

This vitamin is one science has found necessary to help transform the carbohydrates in bread into "the flame fat burns in."

Then, too, this new Wonder Wheat Bread is made with a specially blended flour which retains moisture better than ordinary whole wheat flour. So you'll find this new Wonder Wheat Bread fresh and delicious!

Just ask your grocer for the Wonder Wheat Bread and the Reducing Plan today—start burning off unsightly fat tomorrow. Supplies limited—get your copy at once.

Continental Baking Co., Inc.

NOTE: Wonder Wheat Bread is not a reducing bread—Wonder Wheat Bread simply supplies carbohydrates and Vitamin B_1 needed to help burn up fat.

U. N. PUSHES ARMS CUT TALK

British Proposal Seeking To Obtain 'Cooling Off' Period Tabled.

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y.—(INS)—A British attempt to obtain a "cooling off" period on deadlocked United Nations arms reduction proposals was tabled today.

Instead, the security council will meet this afternoon to take up where it left off when a six-power conference was named last week to try to draft a compromise resolution.

Although the three-day drafting session at the Empire State building failed, the delegates did succeed in boiling down the area of disagreement to one major point—the jurisdiction of the atomic energy commission.

* * *

Austin Hopeful.

Warren R. Austin, chief of the U. S. mission professed satisfaction that the Soviet Union and United States now have agreed "in principle" on the question of timing. He says Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko now realized the need for international security provisions before there can be general disarmament.

The British tried to get the council next to take up its complaint that Albania had mined the Corfu channel, before proceeding to disarmament.

The official agenda for this afternoon's meeting, however, is devoted entirely to various arms reduction and control proposals.

The United States has indicated it may ask a postponement, however, if Russia has no new instructions modifying its stand against protecting the atomic commission's prerogatives.

Last night the council adopted an American resolution against intervening on behalf of 11 Greek terrorists condemned to death.

The resolution was bitterly opposed by Gromyko. He did not, however, attempt to veto it, but merely abstained from voting in line with the new "gentlemen's agreement." This agreement stretches the UN charter to allow the Big Five to "abstain" from voting without having their failure to vote count as a veto.

M'Kellar Calls Former TVA Chief to Fight Lilienthal

WASHINGTON —(INS)— Signs of a senate floor battle over David E. Lilienthal's appointment as atomic committee senators summoned Dr. A. E. Morgan, Lilienthal's predecessor as Tennessee Valley Authority chief.

Through Morgan, who feuded with Lilienthal in TVA 10 years ago and was ousted by the late President Roosevelt, Sen. McKellar (D) Tenn., indicated he would turn the spotlight on Lilienthal's public - versus - private ownership views.

Wherry Joins Bridges.

As opposition to Lilienthal began to take shape, Sen. Wherry (R) Neb, announced he will join Sen. Bridges (R) N H, in fighting Lilienthal's appointment.

The Wherry announcement thus aligned the powerful appropriations committee chairman and the majority whip against Lilienthal, along with McKellar, a power among southern Democratic senators.

Awited by both sides was an announcement of his position by Sen. Robert A. Taft (R) Ohio, chairman of the Republican policy committee.

Taft told reporters he had not fully made up his mind He said he probably will issue a statement on Lilenthal this week.

One committee member privately said indications were that unless the committee trend changes, Lilienthal will get the atomic group's approval—by a majority of at least six to three.

Some Republican senators said that they were not impressed by McKellar's charges that TVA harbored Communists under Lilienthal's administration, but that they were concerned with his government ownership views.

Met Will Present Eight Operas In Cleveland, Beginning April 7

The Metropolitan Opera company will present eight operas, three of them revivals and a ballet, never before performed in Cleveland, during its 22nd season in the Ohio city, April 7 to 12, in Public hall.

Of the three rivivals the Metropolitan will bring to Cleveland, none has been performed by that company there in the past 15 seasons.

They are Modeste Petrovich Moussorgsky's "Boris Godunoff," Leo Delibes' "Lakme," and Englebert Humperdinck's "Hansel and Gretel."

The ballet is Charles Gounod's "Valpurgis Night," composed originally as a part of "Faust," but not performed in that opera in recent years.

"Lakme," which is Cleveland's own production, will open the season Monday night, April 7, with Lily Pons in the title role. "Hansel and Gretel," with Rise Stevens as Hansel and Nadine Conner as Gretel, will be the first part of a double bill Friday afternoon, April 11, with the ballet as the other half. "Boris Godunoff," with Ezio Pinza as Boris, will be heard Friday night.

Other operas to be presented are Richard Wagner's "Lohengrin," "Gounod's "Faust," Giuseppe Verdi's "La Traviata," Giacomo Puccini's "Madame Butterfly," and Verdi's "Aida."

Mail orders for all operas—season tickets as well as single performances — are being received now by W. E. Jones Piano house, 156 Park avenue west, who represents the Cleveland season of Metropolitan opera in Mansfield.

Season Tickets.

Sale of season tickets will open for one week, beginning Monday, Feb. 17. Tickets for single performances will go on sale Monday March 10.

The complete repertoire with the principal stars will be:

Monday evening, April 7—"Lakme" with Lily Pons, Raoul Jobin, Giacomo Vaghi, Martial Singher, Thelma Votipka and Maxine Stellman; Louis Fourestier conducting.

Tuesday evening, April 8—"Lohengrin" with Set Svanholm, Helen Traubel, Dezzo Ernster and Herbert Janssen; Fritz Busch conducting.

Wednesday evening, April 9—"Faust" with Ezio Pinza, Dorothy Kirsten, Charles Kullman, Claramae Turner and Maxine Stellman; Wilfred Pelletier conducting.

Thursday evening, April 10—"La Traviata" with Eleanor Steber, Leonard Warren, Thelma Votipka, Jan Peerce, Leslie Chabay and Thelma Altman; Pietro Cimara conducting.

Friday afternoon, April 11—"Hansel and Gretel" with Rise Stevens, Nadine Conner, Margaret Harshaw, John Brownlee, Thelma Votipka; Fritz Stiedry conducting.

"Valpurgis Night" ballet with Leon Varkas, Edward Caton, Fiala Mraz, Irene Hawthorne, Elissa Minet, Lorraine Ammerman, Lola Michel; Karl Kritz conducting.

Friday evening, April 11—"Boris Godunoff" with Ezio Pinza, Richard Tucker, Salvatore Baccaloni, Irene Jordan, Nicola Moscona, Mack Harrell, Blanche Theborn, Francesco Valentino, Claramae Turner; Emil Cooper conducting.

Saturday afternoon, April 12—"Madama Butterfly" with Licia Albanese, Ferruccio Tagliavini, John Brownlee, Lucielle Browning, Maxine Stellman; Cesare Sodero conducting.

Saturday evening, April 12—"Aida" with Blanche Theborn, Kurt Baum, Giacomo Vaghi, Leonard Warren; Max Rudolf conducting.

In the "Aida" cast the artist who will sing the title role has not been named. It was announced in New York that negotiations are still underway for an important star to appear in the Cleveland performance.

TRUMAN STUDIES DRAFT PROPOSAL

WASHINGTON —(INS)— President Truman considered today war department recommendations for action on the draft scheduled to expire March 31.

The war department has emphasized that recommendations to congress whether the selective service act should be extended hinges on the number of voluntary enlistments.

Members of the house armed forces committee are scheduled to have a closed-door conference today with the army's personnel chief, Maj. Gen. W. S. Paul.

Reports for the months of November and December showed that the army secured scarcely half of the estimated 35,000 men needed monthly to replace those whose short-term enlistments are expiring rapidly.

Recruiting Jumps.

The picture brightened with announcement of the latest recruiting figures. They showed a large jump in the number of voluntary enlistments for the longer period of three years.

Officials asserted that this means that the need for monthly replacements has been decreased by approximately 7,000.

At present there are approximately 1,200,000 officers and enlisted men in the army. By July 1 this strength is scheduled to be down to 1,070,000—400,000 in the air forces and 670,000 in the ground forces.

Bedtime Stories

—By Thornton W. Burgess

YOWLER YIELDS

You'll find 'tis food that rules the earth.
All else is of but little worth.

Yowler the Bobcat was angry. He had been hungry for so long that he wondered what it would be like not to be hunry. It had been that way ever since snow and ice had made hunting so very difficult.

Yowler likes best to hunt at night, but now he hunted by day also. He hunted most of the time when he wasn't alseep, and because he was so hungry he could't sleep long at a time. I suspect that ofen he wished that he could sleep as Buster Bear was sleeping—all winter. I'm sure I would have in Yowler's place. Wouldn't you?

Every time Yowler left his cave in a ledge in the Green Forest temptation went with him. He tried to leave it behind but couldn't. You see he knew where there was all the tender, delicious food a hungry Bobcat could possibly eat in several meals—if he could get it. He knew all about that "yard" tramped out in the snow by Lightfoot the Deer, Mrs. Lightfoot, Spike, Daintyfoot, and the two fawns, in which they were prisoners of the snow and would be until enough had melted so that they could move about easily.

Temptation whispered that it would be easy to get one of those fawns, and in all the Green Forest there wasn't a sweeter, more tender, more delicious dinner than one of those fawns would make.

Then good old common sense would whisper and tell him to keep away from that Deer yard and forget about it; that there was risk, very great risk, in trying to get one of those fawns while their mother and father were near.

So Yowler would go off in another direction and hunt for Mice, or Grouse, or Jumper the Hare, or some other small person in fur or feathers, and try to forget about those Deer in their yard. But he never succeeded and the very next time he started out to hunt temptation was right on hand with reasons for at least visiting that Deer yard.

"It won't do any harm to go over there and see just how matters are," he would say to himself. That was really temptation doing the talking. "If I never go there I never will know if there is a safe chance to catch one of those young Deer.

"I'll just look," said he to himself. "There is no harm in looking."

"I'll just look," said he to himself.

The next story: "The Pleasant Surprise."

RETURNS FROM TRIP

LEXINGTON—Miss Genevieve Vanderbilt has returned from a five week trip through the west with Miss Eloise Husung of Evanston, Ill., former Mansfield resident. The two visited at San Antonio, Albuquerque, Phoenix, Los Angeles, Las Vegas and Boulder Dam, returning by way of Chicago. Miss Vanderbilt is a nurse in the office of Dr. I. W. Bassinger in Mansfield.

CHAMPION—Betty Lou Staninger, 11-year-old member of Girl Scout Troop 2, copped first place in the Girl Scout calendar contest. Betty Lou sold 124 calendars, which Mrs. Myrtle Ruff, Girl Scout executive, said tripled any other sales by the Scouts! An active Scout, Betty Lou is a former Brownie and is enrolled in the sixth grade at Brinkerhoff school. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Staninger, 245 Taylor road. Try and Stop Me

—By Bennet Cerf

At a crowded Broadway first night early in the season, a member of the audience was suddenly overcome by the heat and keeled to the floor of the lobby in a dead faint.

"Step aside," cried a stout lady officiously, "I am a first-aid student and I know how to give artificial respiration."

Her husband blanched with fear and pulled her by the arm. "For heaven's sake," he implored, "don't do that to a sick man."

* * *

A Harvard lad was showing a young visitor from England the sights of Boston. The tour included, of course, the Bunker Hill monument.

The Harvard man gestured. "This is where Warren fell, you know," he explained.

The Englishman shaded his eyes and looked up to the top of the monument. "Nasty drop! Killed him, I take it."

Foremen's Club Hears Speaker Praise Leaders

By JOHN GRAY
N-J State Correspondent

SHELBY—Kenneth H. Wells, National Association of Foremen lecturer, told approximately 250 members of the Mansfield-Shelby Foremen's club here last night that good leadership will build toward "the harmony that means quantity production."

Speaking at the monthly meeting of the foremen's organization at the First Lutheran church here, he declared the foreman's job today is to build men.

"The highest valuation a foreman can have to industry is to be a man who is a good boss," he said.

* * *

Leadership Required.

"Because of the large number of human contacts involved in daily work, mechanical knowledge is not enough for a foreman to know in today's industry.

"A superior knowledge of the work to be done will help a worker earn a foreman's job, but only the knowledge of good leadership will build toward the harmony that means quantity production."

Wells said foremen "need inspiration" in their job. Their biggest obstacle to overcome is not working at the peak as expected of the worker, he asserted.

"Management based on knowledge, respect for authority and good leadership that is capable will help to overcome the complex problems of the production line," he said.

* * *

Impact Is Great.

He cited statistics which he said showed that the foreman has "the greatest impact on the American people." Aside from small businesses, he said, approximately 2,000,000 management men, including foremen, daily contacted 60,000,000 workers.

"Organized labor reaches only 15,000,000 workers," he pointed out.

A dinner was served in the church social rooms by the Lutheran women preceding the program. Rev. D. Bruce Young, pastor of the church, gave the invocation. Ross Stroup of Shelby was program chairman.

* * *

Daley Presides.

Introduced at the speakers' table were Harry Daley, of Mansfield, club president, who presided; M. M. Moore of Shelby, editor of the Daily Globe; Herman Clingan of Mansfield, vice president; J. L. Moore of Mansfield, treasurer; Duane Hadley of Shelby, host committee member, and R. J. Alander, general manager, and Larry Hess, business manager of the News-Journal.

The next meeting will be in Mansfield on March 10, when a special ladies' night program will be presented. Gordon Volkenant of the Minneapolis-Honeywell Regulator company will be the principal speaker.

Lions Hold Annual Bazaar This Week

BUCYRUS—The Lions club annual bazaar to raise funds with which to equip the Lions' newly-established playground in East Bucyrus will be held this week, beginning Thursday and continuing through Saturday, club officials announced today. The bazaar will include a display of all sorts of electrical equipment.

Twelve acres of a section in the east end were taken over by the club two years ago. Last summer it was developed to the point where the first ball game was held on the ball diamond.

ROTARIANS HEAR JUDGE CRAMER

SHELBY—Judge S. H. Cramer of the juvenile and probate court in Mansfield was the guest speaker when the Shelby Rotary club met Monday noon at the Shelby Inn for their regular meeting.

Judge Cramer told of the duties and functions of the two courts. He also told of the various departments and of the humorous incidents that take place in court.

"Juvenile delinquency is caused mostly by the home conditions and due to poor parental care," Judge Cramer told the Rotarians.

Clarence Stroup was in charge of the program. The deputy sheriff will be in charge of the program for the next meeting when the city health nurse will be the guest speaker.

Four Escape Serious Injury When Train Cuts Car In Two

WILLARD — A Willard family narrowly escaped death and their automobile sheared in two when a fast Baltimore and Ohio passenger train struck the vehicle early Sunday morning at the Route 99 crossing.

The car was cut in two at the windshield by the impact, but none of the four members of the Richard N. Smith family was injured seriously.

The train stopped and picked up Smith, his wife, Ruth, and their two daughters, Judy Kay, 3 and Ruth Ann, 2. The family was brought into the Willard station, where they were met by an ambulance and taken to Municipal hospital.

Mrs. Smith still is in the hospital for X-rays and observation, but the other members of the family were released after treatment for minor injuries.

The family had been visiting with friends. They were returning to their home just outside Willard. Smith told police he was blinded by snow and did not see the approaching train.

RESUME DAIRY TESTS IN AREA

BUCYRUS — Six veterinarians have resumed testing of dairy cattle in Crawford county, the first such tests to be made for seven years.

When the last test was made in 1940 less than one per cent of all cattle in the county showed signs of tuberculosis and for this reason, under state law, the next scheduled test in 1943 was not necessary.

Veterinarians assigned to the task are Dr. Fred Von Kaenel, Bucyrus, who will make tests in Bucyrus and Dallas townships; Dr. C. W. Miller, Crestline, Vernon and Sandusky townships; Dr. M. E. Epperson, Galion, Whetstone and Polk townships; Dr. A. C. Shaffstall, New Washington, Auburn and Cranberry townships; Dr. C. W. Fox, Sycamore, Texas, Tod and Lykens townships, and Dr. Robert Knappenberger, Bucyrus, Liberty and Holmes townships.

County Agent Russell L. Miller estimated that there are 14,000 head of cattle in the county.

BROWN SUBS FOR JOHN VANDERCOOK

ASHLAND — Cecil Brown, foreign correspondent and radio news commentator, will speak at Ashland college at 8:30 p. m. Wednesday. His appearance will mark the fourth in the Ashland college lecture concert series.

Brown was a last-minute substitution for John W. Vandercook, also a National Broadcasting company commentator, who was taken suddenly ill yesterday and will be unable to fill his engagement in Ashland.

Vandercook had been engaged to replace Richard Harkness, who originally had been slated to speak at Ashland college.

John Hedrick, Gilead Dealer, Dies at Age 94

MT. GILEAD — John Wesley Hedrick, 94, said to be Morrow county's oldest resident, died at 6 a. m. today at his home here following a brief illness.

Mr. Hedrick was born in York county, Va., and came to Morrow county in 1875. He had lived in the county since that time. He operated a butcher shop here for a number of years. He was a member of Trinity Methodist church.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Esther Mansell of Mt. Gilead and Mrs. Clara Wecker of Galion, and two sons, Jesse of Mt. Gilead and Ethbert of Spokane, Wash.

Services will be held at 1:30 p. m. Thursday at the Craven funeral home with Rev. L. Eugene Bush in charge. Burial will be in Riverside cemetery.

• • •

HARRY A. WATKINS

MT. GILEAD—Harry A. Watkins, 62, of Delmark, died at Mansfield General hospital Monday afternoon.

Born in Carrington, Mr. Watkins had lived all his life in Morrow county. He is survived by one brother, Thomas of Washington, D. C., and two sisters, Mrs. J. E. Smart and Mrs. Cynthia Baker, both of Mt. Gilead.

The body is at the Craven funeral home where arrangements are pending, awaiting word from other members of the family.

• • •

JOSEPH M. BRUHEN

BUCYRUS—Ill only two days, Joseph Martin Bruhen, 65, Bucyrus stone mason, died at his home here Sunday. His death followed by six months that of his wife, Anna Martin Bruhen.

Mr. Bruhen was born in Switzerland. Survivors include three brothers and six sisters, all living in Switzerland. A daughter, Josephine, wife of V. L. Shumaker of Bucyrus, also survives.

Mr. Bruhen came to America from Switzerland at the age of 16 and two years later came to Bucyrus where he has lived since.

Funeral services will be conducted at 1:30 p. m. Wednesday in the Wise funeral home. Burial will be in Oakwood cemetery.

• • •

ADRIENNE LEE CARIS

GALION—Burial was in Fairview cemetery at 10 a. m. today for Adrienne Lee Caris, daughter of Francis and Bessie Caris, who died at birth Monday morning at the family home, 321 South street.

Surviving besides the parents, are four sisters, Mrs. Carl Miller of Galion, Marge, Marlene, Rose Mary, at home; two brothers, Franklin and Ronald, both at home, and the grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Caris of Galion.

• • •

CRESTLINE — Carl Leon Hapmaker, 42, who resided six miles southeast of here, died in Emergency hospital Monday. He had been a patient there for ten days.

Mr. Hapmaker was born in Brightsville, Tenn. He had been a brakeman for the Pennsylvania railroad for the past 25 years.

He leaves his widow, Donna Butler Hapmaker, two daughters, Sharon and Charlotte, both at home, one brother, Bert of Canton, and two sisters in Tennessee.

The body is at the Garverick funeral home, where services will be held at 2 p. m. Wednesday with burial in Ontario cemetery. Rev. R. W. McNary, pastor of the Ontario Community church, will officiate.

GUARDS KILL PRISONERS

LONDON (AP) — A Reuter dispatch from Rangoon, Burma reported that guards at the Arzein prison fired on rioting prisoners today, killing seven and wounding 20.

SHELBY GIRL WINS PROBATION

A 15-year-old Shelby girl yesterday afternoon was sentenced to correctional in the delinquency of a 17-year-old Shelby girl and given a suspended 6-day county jail sentence.

Charges were during the younger girl, seen in the Mansfield cafes last Friday. Mrs. Flora Perkins pleaded guilty. The younger girl pleaded guilty to a charge of being delinquent by reason of drinking beer and frequenting taverns.

Juvenile Judge Stuart H. Cramer warned Mrs. Perkins and suspended the 5-day jail term on condition that she stay out of Mansfield, stay at home and care for her mother's children, and no longer associate with the younger girl.

The younger girl was placed on probation in her stepfather, ordered to stay at home and away from places where beer is sold, be in her home by 11 p. m. each night unless accompanied by her parents and not associate with Mrs. Perkins.

In another case this morning, charges of non-support against Richard Pottinger, 27 year of 136 East Third street were dismissed.

BOARD BACKS HEALTH PLAN

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The social security board asked congress today for a nationwide program of federal health insurance, including disability payments to cover all wage losses caused by injuries.

In its annual report to congress, the board also recommended that all wage earners and all employers be included in the social security program.

The board's health plan was spurned in advance by Sen. Robert A. Taft (R-Ohio), and three other senate Republicans. They introduced a bill for a more limited health insurance program offering federal aid to states.

The board's recommendations were in line with those urged by President Truman for the past year. They conformed closely with the proposals of the Murray-Wagner-Dingell social security bill which Mr. Truman has endorsed.

Taft, chairman of the senate labor committee, condemned the administration plan because it "proposes federal compulsory sickness insurance" and in effect would "nationalize" health services.

BUSINESS LEADER SEES GOOD TIMES

PITTSBURGH — (AP) — F. D. Newbury, vice president of the Westinghouse Electric Corp., expressed belief today that there will be "no serious or prolonged depression before the late 1950's."

"In our own business we are looking for billions and production in 1947 to nearly double the record of strike-bound 1946," he added in a luncheon address for delivery before the electric league of western Pennsylvania.

"As our business goes, so goes the business of other Pittsburgh heavy industry," he declared. "Steel production will continue at near capacity rates throughout the year." He said he expected "some mild recession in 1948, possibly extending in 1949," after a big year in 1947 but declared that this will be followed by a period of "relative stability over the next half-dozen years comparable to, but less than, the stability of the years 1922-28."

Elderly Widow Returns To Her Home In England

Mrs. Mary Ellen Bell, 75, is on her way back home to England after spending a year in Mansfield. She found America wonderful but decided that after all "there's no place like home."

Mrs. Bell went through the London blitz. Her husband was killed in the bombing of their home. At war's end she was in the hospital with little money. She came to Mansfield at the request of relatives.

Two months ago she took up residence in the home of Mrs. Violet Murat of 361 Wayne street.

"Mrs. Bell was a grand old lady," Mrs. Murat tells of her, "and quite interesting to talk to. She had had a pension in England but found that she could not get it here. Finally, we contacted the British consul in Cleveland and through him arranged for her transportation back to England."

Mrs. Bell's husband had been a member of the Royal Marines for 21 years, Mrs. Murat recalls. Her father had been an inspector for Scotland Yard.

By the time Mrs. Bell was ready to return home, her clothes were badly worn. She set out for New York, however, with a complete new outfit. A gift of neighbors and friends of Mrs. Murat.

When she arrives in England, she will be taken to a Masonic home, the British consul informed her.

"Although it's pretty bad weather, and Mrs. Bell expected a rough voyage, she said she wouldn't mind because she likes the 'high blue waves'," Mrs. Murat declared.

J. F. Zeigler Dies at 45

James F. Zeigler, 45, of 311 Newman street, died Monday night at his home following a long illness.

Born in Morrow county, Sept. 24, 1901, he came to Mansfield 25 years ago. For the past 11 years he has been employed by the city as a grader operator. He gave up his job in September because of ill health.

Mr. Zeigler was a veteran of World War II, having served in the Engineering corps.

Surviving are his mother, Mrs. Arvena Zeigler; three sisters, Mrs. Bertha Voland, Mrs. G. C. Davis, and Miss Elsie Zeigler; two brothers, Homer and Lester Zeigler all of Mansfield; a niece, a nephew and one grand-nephew.

The body was removed to the Wappner funeral home where services will be held Thursday at 1 p. m., in charge of Rev. A. J. Staats, pastor of the Free Methodist Church. Burial will be in the Shauck cemetery in Morrow county.

246 Bills In Single Day Flood Ohio House

SENATE LESS RUSHED WITH 41 MEASURES

Resolutions Urge Shift of OSU Agricultural College To Wooster Location.

COLUMBUS —(AP)— The house reference committee locked its office today against visitors to dig out from a blizzard of 246 bills introduced by state representatives on the final day for new measures.

The number was only two less than the total for the entire first five weeks of the current legislative session and rocketed the aggregate to 494, compared with 485 at the session two years ago.

The senate also put on a burst of speed last night but its 41 new measures, boosting its total of 129, were peanuts compared with the house's afternoon and evening efforts. The senate doesn't observe a deadline for new measures, however.

Several resolutions, which were in addition to the bills, caused a stir in the legislative chambers.

Backs Red Hunt.

Creation of a special five-member house committee to investigate "all Communist and un-American activities alleged to exist" in state-supported universities was demanded by Reps. Claude Woodward (R-Montgomery) and Paul R. Barnes (R-Franklin).

Joint resolutions were offered in both the house and senate asking a study of proposals to transfer the agricultural college from Ohio State university to the agriculture experiment station at Wooster for greater economy.

Another joint resolution by Sen. Fred G. Reiners (R-Hamilton) would prevent Ohio from having Georgia's double trouble over the governorship.

The proposal, which would require approval of voters at the next election to change the state constitution, provides that should the governor-elect die between his election and inauguration, the lieutenant governor-elect would be sworn in as governor.

Should both die, resign or for other reasons not take office, the senator who becomes president of the Ohio senate would be next in line, with number four, the speaker of the house of representatives.

Newcomers Make Debut.

Although a number of bills were similar to those introduced at former sessions, some newcomers made their debut.

One by Rep. Kenneth W. Thornton (R-Cuyahoga) would permit a city or county to license bookmakers who accept bets on horse races.

Judges who have served courts of record for ten years would be eligible for pensions upon becoming 65 years of age under a proposal by Rep. Charles P Baker, jr., (R-Lake), a former common pleas jurist.

A bill by Rep. Paul R. Barnes (R-Franklin) would make blood tests for intoxication admissible as evidence for persons accused a second time of driving while drunk.

Backs Old Saloon.

A return of the old saloon—without the free lunch—was provided in a bill by Rep. Mark W. Bennett (R-Hancock) to permit sale of intoxicants only in establishments paying a $1,000 license fee to retail drinks.

Serving of drinks in restaurants, night clubs and elsewhere would be prohibited and no food could be sold or given away in the licensed saloons. It was sponsored by the Anti-Saloon league of Ohio, Bennett said.

Another measure to ban sale of intoxicants within 500 yards of a church or school was offered by Rep. Golda M. Edmonston (R-Franklin).

Rep. John R. Wood (R-Montgomery) called for a reduction in the state's 3 per cent sales tax to 2 per cent, with a one-cent levy on purchases from 13 to 56 cents, and two cents from 57 cents to $1.

Sen. Howard Metzenbaum (D-Cuyahoga) asked a jump in unemployment compensation benefits from $21 to $30 weekly, plus $2 weekly for each dependent up to four. Payments would be increased from 22 to 32 weeks and employers of one or more persons would be brought into the system.

Sale of barbituate sleeping pills would be permitted only on prescription in a bill by Rep. E. M. Ross (R-Cuyahoga).

Proposes Pension Boost.

Old age pension proposals included an increase of maximum payments from $50 to $60 monthly by Sen. Robert A. Pollock (R-Stark); permit pensioners $200 a year for medical expenses; eliminate the $600 annual maximum, offered by Rep. George D. Ellis (D-Mahoning), and separate measures to permit old age pensions to inmates of public institutions, and to prevent such payments.

Tax measures would repeal the state levy on amusement admissions to permit local governments to take over that field; abolish the requirement for school districts to levy up to the 10-mill limitation to participate in the state public school subsidy; limit bond issues in anticipation of tax collectons to one-third the total assessed valuation of property, all recommended by Tax Commissioner C. Emory Glander in his recent report.

Pay increases were proposed for county treasurers, clerks, engineers, and would provide a 40-hour week for state employes with time and one-half for all over that total and double time for Sundays and holidays, and peg wages of state workers at amounts received last Dec. 31 with $50 flat increase not to exceed $5,000 annually.

A bill by Rep. Paul H. Ballard (R-Jackson) would appropriate $3,301,700 to the welfare department for capital improvements with $36,00 going to the Soldiers and Sailors home; $26,000 to the Soldiers and Sailors Orphans home; $27,666 to Bowling Green State university; $300 to Kent State; $90,000 to Miami university; $23,000 to Ohio university, and $145,130 to Wilberforce university.

The Ohio strip mining commission submitted its report to the Ohio senate and Gov. Thomas J. Herbert's reappointment of David C. Bradfute of Greene county to the conservation commission for a term ending in February, 1955, was sent to the senate rules committee pending confirmation.

Ohio Relief Lists Growing Despite Record Employment

COLUMBUS —(AP)— Although more Ohioans are working than ever before the state's relief lists are growing.

Records of the state department of welfare showed today that the 1946 case load, or the actual number of cases given state help, increased more than 40 per cent from the so-called "rock bottom" figures established during 1944 and 1945, the last years of the war. The 1946 load averaged 15,961 cases a month, against 11,377 in 1945 and 11,872 in 1944.

Total costs also rose and the average payment per case jumped from $26.50 in 1944 to $35.54 last year. The 1945 figure was $28 89.

Welfare department officials explained that returning service men and women were swelling the labor force, taking up the thousands of new jobs being created by demand for goods no one could buy during the war. Thus, they said, the competition for jobs continued high, with many people not finding work turning to public relief. In addition, they said, hundreds of persons who held war jobs when almost anyone could get work now were classed as unemployable and sooner or later many may become relief cases.

Officials also noted that the number of persons in each case had increased from 3.7 per case in 1945 to 4.1 this year.

The cost of the state's relief program, embracing only the expenses of county relief offices and not those of the state offices here, increased from $5,545,150 in 1945 to $8,753,360 The 1944 total was $5,488,459.

Of the total, $6,807,937 went for actual assistance in 1946, and the remainder for administration and help to other programs, such as the Red Cross. In 1945 this figure was $3,944,416, and in 1944 it was $3,775,216.

Son Sees Mother After 56 Years

BRIDGEPORT —(UP)—Herbert Manterfield, 59, Yorkshire, England was en route to Canton today to see his mother for the first time in 56 years.

Manterfield's mother came to the United States following separation from her husband and Manterfield had lost track of her. His son located her while on RAF duty in Canada. Manterfield was in Bridgeport visiting his step-sister, whom he had never seen before.

Haley and Cropper Take Tourney Lead

The team of P. F. Haley and Paul F. Cropper was leading today in the Mansfield University club bridge tournament.

Haley and Cropper finished with both the high evening score and high total score in a session in the Mansfield-Leland hotel.

In second place was the team of Keith B. Miller and E. A. Eckert.

Final session of the tournament is scheduled for Wednesday, Feb 19, at the Mansfield-Leland hotel

Barclay On Bridge

With a clear-cut margin over any contender, Sidney Silodor, of Philadelphia, ranks at the top among all the national championship players for the season just completed. Among the thousands of hopefuls who fared forth to compete in the fourteen national title events, he is the only one who managed to win two of the championships and gain second place in two others. That puts him indisputably in the No. 1 spot on our annual list of The First Ten in Contract Bridge for the seventeenth season this ranking has been compiled.

Another Philadelphian gained second place, John R. Crawford. A new Yorker, A. Mitchell Barnes, finished third. Fourth is Mrs. Wilkinson Wagar, of Atlanta, Georgia, who led everybody in the last season, and fifth is a present resident of New York, Alvin Roth, who lived in Washington, D. C., when he began to win national events. Thus the list is more representative geographically than for a long time, so far as the first five are concerned. Here is the full list:

1. Sidney Silodor, Philadelphia.
2. John R. Crawford, Philadelphia.
3. A. Mitchell Barnes, New York.
4. Mrs. Wilkinson Wagar, Atlanta.
5. Alvin Roth, Washington, D. C.
6. Mrs. E. J. Seligman, New York.
7. Mrs. Ralph C. Young, Philadelphia.
8. Sam Katz, Milburn, N. J.
9. Bertram Labhar, Jr., New York.
10. (Tied) Mrs. J. E. Folline, Richmond, Va.; Mrs. A. M. Sobel, New York, and Waldemar von Zedtwitz, New York.

The players in second and third place each won two events and finished second in two. Both of Mr. Crawford's wins, however, were in open events—the "knockout" teams of four for the Harold S. Vanderbilt Trophy, and the "match point" teams of four, whereas one of the triumphs by Mr. Barnes was not in a strictly open contest, the men's pairs, from which women obviously were barred.

Those landing fourth-fifth, sixth and seventh had two wins apiece with no seconds. Mrs. Wagar's victories were in the masters' teams of four and women's fours. Mr. Roth's in the open fours and mixed pairs, Mrs. Seligman's in the open match-point teams and women's pairs and Mrs. Young's in the women's pairs and teams. So, on the basis of the relative difficulty of the competition, they were ranked as stated.

Messrs. Katz and Lebhar, treasurer of the American Contract Bridge League, had identical records as teammates, winning in the masters' mixed fours for the Shepard Barclay Trophy and being runners-up in the Vanderbilt Cup open knockout fours, but Mr. Katz scored higher in other events than Mr. Lebhar. The three tied for tenth had one first and one second each.

The fourteen events counted are all under official auspices of the American Contract Bridge League, and their locale was spread from New York and Brooklyn to Florida and California. There were four masters' events, limited to players with high performance records—individual, pairs, fours and mixed fours made up of two man-and woman pairs; four opens—individual, pairs, knockout fours and match point fours; women's pairs and fours, men's pairs and four and open mixed pairs and fours.

The next season, on which these rankings are based, will begin Friday with the first session of the individual masters' championship in New York.

Edison's Birthplace Becomes Shrine

ON A HILLSIDE in nearby Milan stands a small brick cottage destined to become a world shrine from today on. Just a hundred years ago Thomas A. Edison was born there. In those days Milan was the second largest grain port in the world—second only to Odessa, Russia. Grain went out via Milan canal to Lake Erie and thence to Buffalo and the east.

When Thomas Edison was a boy, legend has it, he fell into the canal. He also built a playhouse in the cherry tree that still stands, gnarled but capable of blooming, beside the house. The story goes that young Tom once set fire to his father's barn just to see what would happen.

After the family moved to Port Huron and Edison got a job as a telegrapher he invented a device which would report for him automatically. It was so good his superiors became suspicious and caught him asleep on the job.

Well, that would seem not too inspiring a beginning for a young man. But there is a saving feature. Edison became a newspaperman! For about two years in the early 1860's he edited and published a two-page, three-column weekly which he sold on a train and at railway stations between Detroit and Port Huron. He had a keen news sense and not only scooped larger papers—through friendly telegraphers—but built up a profitable circulation. The venture closed when a friend persuaded him to turn from straight news to gossip writing.

After a time as itinerant telegrapher he got a job in New York and invented a stock price recorder. He went on to obtain more patents than any man who has ever lived. Today we owe him electric lights, the phonograph, the movies and countless other less publicized devices.

Leading national figures have been making pilgrimages during the past three days to the little cottage in Milan to pay tribute to the greatest inventive genius of all time.

Surely his story must prod the minds of other Ohio boys to look into the great unknowns of science as Edison looked into them—not as an incomprehensible mystery but as a chance to get the day's work done in a newer and better way. And, of course, the chief lesson Edison has left in all his greatness is that when he attacked a problem he refused ever to become discouraged. He just kept on working until he got the answer.

Giving Thought To Traffic Congestion

OUT of the thought being given the subject of traffic congestion, some solution may eventually appear—although accomplishments to date have been rather discouraging.

Principal trouble in Mansfield seems to be that there just isn't enough off-street parking space to relieve the lack of sufficient curb space—nor is any inside parking available for motorists who would prefer it.

One interested reader suggests that some cities have found it advantageous to eliminate all parking for several blocks on busy downtown streets, so as to allow greater space for movement of cars and buses, giving opportunity for buses and trucks to use curb lanes while private cars would have access to center lanes.

Specifically, he suggests prohibiting parking on Main street between Fourth and First streets, and on Fourth street between Mulberry and Diamond streets. His idea is that by expediting bus service more patrons would be attracted to that method of transportation, that more frequent bus service could be given, and that many persons would leave their cars at home instead of driving down street.

Anyhow, it's interesting to learn that some folks are thinking along traffic lines, and noticing what is being done in other cities.

Ancient 'Dumps' Reveal Progress

ARCHAEOLOGISTS have turned from tombs to dumps in their efforts to piece together the evidence of man's progress in time. Dr. Donald Collier has returned to the Chicago natural history museum with a wealth of information about the former inhabitants of the north coast of Peru. Clues found in dumps excavated there cover a period of more than 1,500 years.

Dr. Collier and his colleagues, archaeologists from Yale and Columbia universities, supervised the digging, which must be done by hand, so that no precious piece of evidence is broken. They established their time sequence by carefully checking the layers at which different artifacts were unearthed, as the villages were built one on top of the site of another, like those in the Euphrates valley and in other ancient lands.

What conclusions will be reached by the scientists of the future, digging and delving in the dumps near our large cities? Instead of handmade pottery, they will find millions of tin cans, twisted bedsprings, rusted bathtubs and broken glass. They would do better with cornerstones of public buildings, with their revealing contents, or time capsules, which have been sunk deep into the substratum in some localities, and which contain many clues to our civilization.

Studying the Causes of Divorces

DESPITE the increases in divorces, it appears that many of today's young people are sincerely anxious to acquaint themselves with the pitfalls of matrimony, in order to be able to avoid them.

At a Farm and Home Week conference at the University of Illinois, a brisk round table discussion brought out frank opinions about choosing a life partner. These young people realize that successful marriages are not accidental, but the result of long acquaintance, day by day building up of confidence and respect, and continual give and take rather than a one-sided devotion. They emphasized the need of health, emotional maturity, evenness of temperament, and the cultivation of outside interests.

If these young people and others like them apply this knowledge when they are ready for marriage, the future divorce rate should show a substantial decrease.

Under new collegiate rules a football coach can't go hunting for players, but, as the Kansas City Star suggests, "He isn't required to throw rocks at any that follow him home."

When a Michigan apartment house owner ordered three families to vacate, because of new babies, the natural exclamation was: "For crying out loud!"

New York women are being warned against over-indulgence in profanity—it appears that there are still some men who regard it as "unladylike."

It appears that tax cuts are much simpler for politicians than for statesmen.

TIME TO DEFROST THE REFRIGERATOR

Pearson Reviews Splendid Record Of His Good Friend, Max Gardner

By DREW PEARSON

SHELBY, N. C.—On Feb. 6 the lead story in this column began: "Today O. Max Gardner sets sail for his new post as American ambassador to the Court of St. James."

This writer has never made a correction with more sorrow and regret, but that column should have read: "Today O. Max Gardner sets sail for a great new destination to serve at the Court of his Maker."

And it should have continued: "Max Gardner in life seldom had time to do the things he wanted to do. He was too busy doing things for others. He was not so well known to the nation, because he spent so much time working for his friends.

"Max Gardner was the type of man who, when he sat down for a visit, wanted to know all about the other fellow's problems, never mentioned his own. When Harry Hopkins was having trouble getting confirmed as secretary of commerce, it was Max Gardner who sat up long midnight hours preparing him for the senatorial cross-examination.

"When Stuart Symington was having headaches as war surplus property administrator, it was Max who gave him wise and patient counsel. And when this column was sued by ex-Congressman Sweeney of Ohio in one of the biggest libel suits in history, it was Max Gardner who spent long and tedious hours battling that suit.

"Max Gardner was offered many high offices, but turned most of them down. He loved people more than position. In fact, he hesitated a long time before accepting the proffered post of ambassador to London.

Gardner's Business Career.

"I was scooped on his appointment. Max had asked my advice about taking the plunge into diplomacy—a new field for him. This tied my hands regarding any public comment. My advice, I'm sure, made little difference, but I felt that our relations with Great Britain never were more important, and that now more than ever we needed in London a blunt-speaking, bona-fide American, not a social-whirler, to interpret the people of the USA to the people of Great Britain.

"A few weeks earlier, Max had sold his North Carolina rayon mill. He had built it years before, when rayon was new and had a highly hazardous future; so in many ways he hated to part with it. But his son, who had managed the mill, was dead. With his passing something went out of Max's life and finally he sold out.

"I remember the day Max deposited the check in the bank. With some pride he showed me the deposit slip—in seven figures.

"'You're looking at a real live millionaire,' he said whimsically. 'And I've no idea what to do with the money.'

"Yet in making that money, Max had never deserted his creed that it pays dividends to look out for the other fellow. His mill was the first in the south to adopt the minimum wage; and last year while northern labor leaders were battling with U. S. Steel and General Motors for wage increases, Max voluntarily increased wages in his mill. He had found it always paid him dividends.

* * *

How New Deal Began.

"Nor did Max, despite his wealth, ever desert his belief that the world must move forward to more liberal things. He always believed in the creed he expressed in a letter he wrote Franklin Roosevelt when FDR was governor of New York and Max was governor of North Carolina.

"'The American people are on the move,' Max wrote. 'If I were you I would become more liberal, because I tell you the masses are marching and if we are to save this nation, it has got to be saved by the liberal interpretations of the sentiments now ruling in the hearts of men.

"'I am satisfied we are in the day of a new deal and that many of our preconceived ideas and formulas are going to be thrown into the discard. We are more than blind if we think the American people can be hitched to the status quo. The camp fires of the past are now abandoned and the frontiers of thinking have extended beyond the limit heretofore held sacred by the conservative minds of this country.'

"Max believed that creed not only in 1932 when he wrote to Franklin Roosevelt, but to the very end.

"So, having sold his mill and deposited the money in the bank, Max decided he could devote the next years of his life to doing on a broader scale what he had been doing on an individual scale—bettering relations between people. He accepted the president's offer to become ambassador to Great Britain.

"Just a few hours before he died, Max phoned me from New York to say good-bye. He was in excellent spirits and full of enthusiasm for his big new job.

"Only a few people outside the family knew that Max for many years had nursed a heart condition. That was why he did not run for the senate in 1944. Bob Reynolds' term was up in that year, and though the two had been good friends and once shipped to Europe on a cattle boat together, Max was thoroughly disgusted with Reynolds' wartime isolationism—as were most of the people of North Carolina. All his friends urged him to run for the senate, and he planned to do so.

"But at the last minute his doctor, in effect, said no. Max stepped aside and his brother-in-law, Clyde Hoey, won an easy victory.

"Though Max Gardner died for his friends, in a way what killed him was his friends. After he was appointed to the Court of St. James, he found that he had more friends than he had ever dreamed. All sorts of people, many with scarcely a nodding acquaintance, bobbed up with invitations to dinners and cocktail parties. It was a worse ordeal than if he had campaigned for the senate. Yet, figuring it was a part of the new diplomatic game, Max went through with it."

Looking Back

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

Friday, Feb. 11, 1927.

Annual banquet of Richland county Lincoln association was held in Vonhof hotel.

It was announced that "nearly 2,000 people attended auto show at Coliseum on opening night."

Mrs. Michael E. Douglas, 88, died at her home, 282 West Fourth street.

Second annual Ohio Young Men's conference opened at First Presbyterian church with registration of 225.

Sixty-three births were reported in Mansfield registration area in January—32 boys and 31 girls.

Fire damaged Central hotel on Galion's public square, with damage estimated at $15,000.

Miss Donna Smith, student at Ohio State university, was home for the week-end.

Item told of "many cars being tagged for violation of traffic regulations."

Mansfield high school basketball team defeated Galion by 34-18 score.

THIS DAY IN HISTORY

On February 11, 1893, the Empress of Austria contributed the sum of $40,000 towards the establishment of a new reading-room in the Vatican.

Dave Boone Says:

THEY opened Thomas Edison's old desk, sealed at his death, and some surprise was expressed that no secrets of new inventions were found. Gosh! What did they expect? If Edison hadn't given his full quota of benefactions to the world, nobody ever did.

* * *

Nevertheless they did find something that, to my mind, was of terrific value to the world, especially at this minute. It was an old memo scrawled on a yellowed bit of paper "When down in the mouth, remember Jonah. He came out all right."

* * *

Millions of men and women all over this perplexed earth can find a heap of helpfulness in this advice. I'd like to see it in electric lights in home and palace, legislative hall and peace court. A restored sense of humor and a little more patience could be used in all of 'em.

* * *

Judge Picard sure did blitz that portal-to-portal matter. He kicked it right through the court portal, taking the sash and sills with it. And in changing his opinion he didn't take much more time than had been allowed some people to change their pants.

Rent Control Row Nearing a Showdown.

WASHINGTON — The rent control row has broken into an angry free-for-all again.

And this time, citizens personally concerned with the problem may be wise to promptly pen a note to their congressmen or their president about their points of view.

For it looks as though a decision, legislative or administrative, is coming—and soon . . .

Both ways, the current outburst of lobbying on the basic rental battle far surpasses any previous show of strength on either side.

That is perfectly clear as both sides storm Capitol Hill, the White House, the public, the press and the radio for support. This time, they're not just skirmishing. They're unleashing their heaviest ammunition in full attack.

For instance, the National Association of Real Estate Boards, long opposed to federal rule over housing revenue, is ready to fire the heaviest volley in its history. Among other things, spokesmen say the NAREB will charge that rent control has robbed the country of some two million rental units and been responsible for preventing construction of countless other rentable homes and apartments.

They are not alone. Other landlord lobbyists in town assert that rent controls have forced thousands of them to convert their property to business use rather than residential, or hold it vacant and off the market altogether, or simply list it for sale at the highest price possible—which today is plenty high!

These are harsh words — big guns—for, presumably, everyone is interested in providing more rental units today to ease the housing shortage. But what about the other side?

All national labor union spokesmen who are ready to comment flatly oppose abolition of rent controls. They assert that it would "skyrocket the already rapidly-rising cost of living, hit the nation's lowest-income group hardest of all, and inevitably force new equalizing wage demands on the part of labor everywhere."

Added one: "At a time like this, when we are attempting to attain a postwar economic balance and full civilian production, a sudden rise in workers' rents would dynamite all chance of industrial peace—the first prerequisite of both those national goals . . ."

Further, labor leaders charge that if any rental units are missing from the market due to rent controls it is "only because landlords are holding out in the hopes of beating the law and eventually getting high prices—just as the meat people did last summer and fall!"

Once again, harsh words, those. But they are only the beginning. Joining the ranks of those who would retain rent controls is the newly formed "Americans for Democratic Action" organization, headed by such men as former Housing Expediter Wilson Wyatt and former Price Administrator Leon Henderson—who have belligerently returned to their old-time public fight in their regained role of private citizens, voters and taxpayers.

For the most part, veterans' organizations are opposed to eliminating rent controls although some, such as the American Legion housing committee, say that administration of the controls has been the target of "justified criticism" and are willing to support certain increases . . .

Hannegan Follows FDR's "Timing" Idea.

WASHINGTON—Perhaps the most valuable political asset of President Roosevelt was his sense of timing.

Some of his aides with pet projects, legislative or otherwise, often got annoyed and discouraged when he put them off with "wait, this isn't the proper time." But the time usually would come. Something might happen to push the subject before the nation, maybe something that the president himself had arranged—for he had a way of doing that. Or perhaps he would catch the opposition off balance. Then he would strike.

The series of reforms that he left behind vouch for the success of his method.

This is not to compare Bob Hannegan, national Democratic chairman, with the late president as a political strategist.

But he borrowed from the Roosevelt manual in timing the opening of his "second-term-for-Truman" campaign in a New York speech. The timing was good for several reasons.

In the first place, President Truman's stock has gone up considerably since the election. It was hard for it to go any other way, but the recovery has been notable. John L. Lewis helped some. So did the president's calm and carefully considered messages at the opening of the Republican congress.

In the second place, Republicans are decidedly off balance in congress just at this moment, which is understandable for a party long out of power coming back to face difficult problems.

They are quarreling among themselves over budget, taxes, labor legislation, reciprocal tariff program. They are torn, too, with conflicting ambitions, or as Senator Taft (R.,O.) put it the other night with pardonable hyperbole—there are 51 senators and 245 members of the house running for president. (That's the total Republican membership in each branch.)

Typical of what is going on was the spectacle before the senate labor committee the next morning after Bob Hannegan's New York speech. Harold Stassen, the only publicly announced candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, found himself trading blows over labor legislation with Senator Ball (R., Minn.), who was started on his senatorial career through appointment by Mr. Stassen, then governor of Minnesota.

Senator Taft mixed in, too. A few minutes later Senator Morese (Ore.) of the western progressive wing of the Republican party, was whanging away on the senate floor at the more conservative wing. So it goes.

From all of this Mr. Truman stands on the sidelines, serenely aloof. From time to time, he reminds the Republicans—and the public—of their disagreements. Occasionally he dramatizes the political jealousies among them, as he renewed his recommendation that the succession to the presidency be, first, to speaker of the house, and, second, to president of the senate. Republicans don't want to touch that one until they have their own man in the White House.

Continually, too, the president reminds Republicans that they have complete responsibility in congress. He will not let either them or the public forget that.

For the time being, President Truman, as a candidate for 1948—and there seems no doubt that he is that—gains from the position of one man against a field of ambitious Republicans.

Bob Hannegan's tossing of the president's hat in the ring now was timely, in the third place, because it caught the left-wingers in his party off balance, just as it did Republicans.

Washington Changes With Changing Times.

WASHINGTON — The tides of history beat so fiercely on this city that the landmarks of the past have little chance of survival. The Capitol and the White House remain out of an older Washington. But everywhere else the white cliffs of government overwhelm the quiet town of yesterday.

Now another fixed point of reference is to vanish. For 72 years the secretary of state has occupied the great wedding cake of a building across narrow West Executive Avenue from the White House.

It was built in the days when we imported our architecture from Paris, as women who could afford it imported their dresses. Those were the days when government was a ceremony rather than a function. The building has the look of an imposing Victorian dowager.

In the beginning, it was known as the state, war and navy building because it comfortably contained all three departments. Air conditioning was unknown in that quaint era. But the walls were massive and, even in the dead of summer, air circulated through the high-ceilinged rooms. What is more, all top officials left the city in the summer for a more comfortable climate.

State, war and navy flanked the White House on one side, and treasury on the other. This was the triumvirate of government. Across Pennsylvania avenue was the shady quiet of Jackson Square, and everyone who mattered, or nearly everyone, lived around the square in big comfortable houses.

Directly across from the White House, in adjoining houses, lived Henry Adams and his good friend John Hay, who was secretary of state under McKinley and Theodore Roosevelt. Hay, who had been private secretary to Abraham Lincoln, was one of America's distinguished literary and political figures.

Traditionally, men of distinction have held the No. 1 cabinet post. James G. Blaine, Elihu Root, William J. Bryan, Robert Lansing, Charles Evans Hughes, Henry L. Stimson, Cordell Hull—all these men have occupied the big ceremonial office that is now to be vacated.

The offices of the newest secretary of state, Gen. George C. Marshall, will be moved while he is attending the Moscow conference. Today the business of the state department is no longer a ceremony but one of the most important functions of government.

State has approximately 6200 civil service employes in Washington. The operations of the foreign service, with 11,000 employes, extend all over the globe. They cover phases of activity growing out of the new technology.

It is fitting that Secretary Marshall should be in command in this period of change. He stands for the values of the past, above all for the kind of integrity and patriotism that we associate with the men who founded this country.

At the same time he is keenly aware of the need to bring the whole operation of the state department up to date.

Marshall has already made a number of moves to align the functioning machinery of the department. He has the kind of clear-sighted vision that enables him to cut through inhibitions and conventions that impeded the work of the department in the past.

There were reasons of sentiment and convenience for clinging to the old building. But practical considerations dictated the move.

The new home of the state department is modern and efficient. It will be a start toward getting the organization under one roof. Today it is distributed through 25 buildings in Washington.

Farmer's Diary: "Winter Vacation."

THE farmer from Logan county looked rested and younger than when I had seen him last. I told him so. He looked sheepish.

"You'll be surprised," he said, "but I reckon I'll just tell you. My wife and I have skum a new scheme for a winter vacation."

"What?"

"Well—you know how our farm is. We keep a herd of cattle. We've got three kids in high school, and there's plenty of work to do the year around. But here lately my wife's begun to lag a bit. She's tired most of the time—and I figgered out that she needs a vacation. 'Tain't that she's sick—but she needs a change, I guess. I tried to get her to go avisitin'—told her we-all could get along. But when she did go, she come home all worn out. They'd entertained her most to death—and so last week I eloped with her—and let the kids take over. Just for the week-end. We left home Friday night and didn't come back until Sunday.

"She didn't know where we was goin'—and was she surprised. We went just over to the state capital, and got a room at a big hotel. Hadn't been in a hotel overnight since our honeymoon. Then we window shopped, and got supper at a funny little foreign restaurant . . . and went to a show and stayed up until after three o'clock, just actin' a fool.

"Saturday all day we spent walching the city go by. We went to the museum and the capitol building and to the hospital to visit a friend who was allfired glad to see us. He'd been there three weeks, and was on the mend, after surgery. Made us glad to be well . . . we each bought a new hat.

"Sunday morning we went to church. It was lovely. We felt dressed up in the new hats—and the music was wonderful. The committee welcomed us, special, before we went out.

"Then we had Sunday dinner in the hotel—finger bowls, by gosh! Momma didn't do a lick of work the whole time, and she said it was nice to eat some cookin' not her own, without puttin' anybody to any special trouble, or havin' to eat more'n she wanted. For my part, I was glad enough to get some good home gruh, when we got back.

"The kids? Oh, they got along fine. One heifer had a calf, and the boys were as proud as punch . . . you'd a thought . . . well no matter . . . yes, we're going to do it again, before planting time. It's good medicine for Momma."

Southern Woman Speaks.

A frail but determined woman gave Georgia legislators a lecture on justice and law, championing the Negro's right to vote. She was Mrs. James H. Longstreet, widow of the Confederate general. She minced no words in saying what she thought about the proposed white primary bill.

"There are only two ways by which the Negro can be legally disenfranchised," she said. "By having the U. S. supreme court reverse its decision and by amending the United States constitution. And the sun of our national progress is too high in the heavens for either action.

"The race that can produce a George Washington Carver and a Booker Washington has already paid the price, in service to their country, of the highest privilege of American citizenship, which is the ballot."

Child Guidance Group Hears Nutritionist

Mrs. A C Tuttle, a former college student of nutrition, spoke to members of the Child Guidance club Monday night at their regular meeting in the home of Mrs Derl Arehart, 668 Millsboro road Her subject was "It's Fun Feeding Your Family"

"Nutrition is a science and science is a moving thing," Mrs. Tuttle said Yesterday calories were counted with care but today the important object of our food preparation is plenty of vitamins, she continued. We have to supply much-needed energy and to help us we have modern equipment tools and prepared foods to help make it really fun to cook

Mrs. Tuttle suggested that to sell meals to your family, add little decorations making the most of every festive occasion such as Valentine's day, Easter, individual birthdays, patriotic holidays—then comment on the history and traditions of the holiday during the meals. She concluded her talk with this tribute to vitamins—"They add years to our lives and life to our years."

A children's Valentine party is planned for Saturday, Feb 15, at Johns' Park Pavilion at 2 p m Hostesses are the mesdames Harold Hamblin, chairman, William Linton, Gene Culp, Edgar Berry and Arehart. Legion Auxiliary Honors State Officers, Guests

A challenge for all citizens to be good American servants, abhorred by the words, "juvenile delinquency" because of the fact that usually it is the adults who are delinquent, highlighted the address given by Mrs. Robert Gray, Dayton, department president of the American Legion auxiliary, Monday night at the meeting of Earl D. McVey unit 16 of the auxiliary.

Red, white and blue appointments were used for the buffet supper served to 110 women by Mrs. Harold Isch and her committee.

Following a business session conducted by Mrs. Ralph Shively, president of the local unit, Mrs. Gray used the new American Legion auxiliary ritual when 21 new members received their obligation in an impressive candlelight service.

Mrs. Gray asserted that every month should be Americanism month. She concluded her talk by stressing that we must all start to live together harmoniously in our community and set an example for the rest of the world.

Brief tribute was paid to General George Washington and Abraham Lincoln by Mrs. Walter Beckley, past department president and past president of the Mansfield unit. This was followed by a welcome to 22 members of the Shelby unit, extended by past local presidents.

Miss Marie Kalbfleisch, program chairman, and Mrs. Faye Fairman, pianist, led the group in singing sweetheart songs in keeping with the Valentine season.

Why Homogenized Milk Has A Richer, Creamier Taste You Will Like
In ordinary milk, the cream and milk are separate; the milk is not uniform; each serving contains unequal amounts of butterfat and varies in taste.
In Homogenized Milk, the cream is MIXED with the milk giving a smooth, creamy flavor. Every drop is forced through tiny openings at extremely high pressure. This produces nearly 10 times more cream particles and MIXES them with the milk.
Thus, there's cream through the entire quart. The "cream line" is really at the bottom of the bottle, because the milk and cream never separate.
Every serving of Isaly's Homogenized milk, whether the first or last poured from the bottle, is equally nourishing, equally rich and delicious. Try it once, you'll use it always.

Homogenized Milk Is
Milk Babies Like Better -- Milk Your Family Will Enjoy
Babies like homogenized milk better because it has a rich, creamy taste—a taste that makes them want more.
Your family will like homogenized milk because the cream is mixed evenly through the milk, giving each glassful the same rich, delicious flavor, right down to the last drop.
400 EXTRA Vitamin D units in every quart provide added nourishment and help build strong bones and sound teeth. Nutrition experts say all babies and growing children should have 400 Vitamin D units daily.

Edison's Birthplace Becomes Shrine

ON A HILLSIDE in nearby Milan stands a small brick cottage destined to become a world shrine from today on. Just a hundred years ago Thomas A. Edison was born there. In those days Milan was the second largest grain port in the world—second only to Odessa, Russia. Grain went out via Milan canal to Lake Erie and thence to Buffalo and the east.

When Thomas Edison was a boy, legend has it, he fell into the canal. He also built a playhouse in the cherry tree that still stands, gnarled but capable of blooming, beside the house. The story goes that young Tom once set fire to his father's barn just to see what would happen.

After the family moved to Port Huron and Edison got a job as a telegrapher he invented a device which would report for him automatically. It was so good his superiors became suspicious and caught him asleep on the job.

Well, that would seem not too inspiring a beginning for a young man. But there is a saving feature. Edison became a newspaperman! For about two years in the early 1860's he edited and published a two-page, three-column weekly which he sold on a train and at railway stations between Detroit and Port Huron. He had a keen news sense and not only scooped larger papers—through friendly telegraphers—but built up a profitable circulation. The venture closed when a friend persuaded him to turn from straight news to gossip writing.

After a time as itinerant telegrapher he got a job in New York and invented a stock price recorder. He went on to obtain more patents than any man who has ever lived. Today we owe him electric lights, the phonograph, the movies and countless other less publicized devices.

Leading national figures have been making pilgrimages during the past three days to the little cottage in Milan to pay tribute to the greatest inventive genius of all time.

Surely his story must prod the minds of other Ohio boys to look into the great unknowns of science as Edison looked into them—not as an incomprehensible mystery but as a chance to get the day's work done in a newer and better way. And, of course, the chief lesson Edison has left in all his greatness is that when he attacked a problem he refused ever to become discouraged. He just kept on working until he got the answer.

Giving Thought To Traffic Congestion

OUT of the thought being given the subject of traffic congestion, some solution may eventually appear—although accomplishments to date have been rather discouraging.

Principal trouble in Mansfield seems to be that there just isn't enough off-street parking space to relieve the lack of sufficient curb space—nor is any inside parking available for motorists who would prefer it.

One interested reader suggests that some cities have found it advantageous to eliminate all parking for several blocks on busy downtown streets, so as to allow greater space for movement of cars and buses, giving opportunity for buses and trucks to use curb lanes while private cars would have access to center lanes.

Specifically, he suggests prohibiting parking on Main street between Fourth and First streets, and on Fourth street between Mulberry and Diamond streets. His idea is that by expediting bus service more patrons would be attracted to that method of transportation, that more frequent bus service could be given, and that many persons would leave their cars at home instead of driving down street.

Anyhow, it's interesting to learn that some folks are thinking along traffic lines, and noticing what is being done in other cities.

Ancient 'Dumps' Reveal Progress

ARCHAEOLOGISTS have turned from tombs to dumps in their efforts to piece together the evidence of man's progress in time. Dr. Donald Collier has returned to the Chicago natural history museum with a wealth of information about the former inhabitants of the north coast of Peru Clues found in dumps excavated there cover a period of more than 1,500 years.

Dr. Collier and his colleagues, archaeologists from Yale and Columbia universities, supervised the digging, which must be done by hand, so that no precious piece of evidence is broken. They established their time sequence by carefully checking the layers at which different artifacts were unearthed, as the villages were built one on top of the site of another, like those in the Euphrates valley and in other ancient lands

What conclusions will be reached by the scientists of the future, digging and delving in the dumps near our large cities? Instead of handmade pottery, they will find millions of tin cans, twisted bedsprings, rusted bathtubs and broken glass. They would do better with cornerstones of public buildings, with their revealing contents, or time capsules, which have been sunk deep into the substratum in some localities, and which contain many clues to our civilization.

Studying the Causes of Divorces

DESPITE the increases in divorces, it appears that many of today's young people are sincerely anxious to acquaint themselves with the pitfalls of matrimony, in order to be able to avoid them.

At a Farm and Home Week conference at the University of Illinois, a brisk round table discussion brought out frank opinions about choosing a life partner These young people realize that successful marriages are not accidental, but the result of long acquaintance, day by day building up of confidence and respect, and continual give and take rather than a one-sided devotion They emphasized the need of health, emotional maturity, evenness of temperament, and the cultivation of outside interests.

If these young people and others like them apply this knowledge when they are ready for marriage, the future divorce rate should show a substantial decrease

Under new collegiate rules a football coach can't go hunting for players, but, as the Kansas City Star suggests, "He isn't required to throw rocks at any that follow him home."

When a Michigan apartment house owner ordered three families to vacate, because of new babies, the natural exclamation was: "For crying out loud!"

New York women are being warned against over-indulgence in profanity—it appears that there are still some men who regard it as "unladylike."

It appears that tax cuts are much simpler for politicians than for statesmen.

TIME TO DEFROST THE REFRIGERATOR

Pearson Reviews Splendid Record Of His Good Friend, Max Gardner

By DREW PEARSON

SHELBY, N. C.—On Feb. 6 the lead story in this column began: "Today O. Max Gardner sets sail for his new post as American ambassador to the Court of St. James."

This writer has never made a correction with more sorrow and regret, but that column should have read: "Today O. Max Gardner sets sail for a great new destination to serve at the Court of his Maker."

And it should have continued "Max Gardner in life seldom had time to do the things he wanted to do. He was too busy doing things for others. He was not so well known to the nation, because he spent so much time working for his friends.

"Max Gardner was the type of man who, when he sat down for a visit, wanted to know all about the other fellow's problems, never mentioned his own When Harry Hopkins was having trouble getting confirmed as secretary of commerce, it was Max Gardner who sat up long midnight hours preparing him for the senatorial cross-examination

"When Stuart Symington was having headaches as war surplus property administrator, it was Max who gave him wise and patient counsel. And when this column was sued by ex-Congressman Sweeney of Ohio in one of the biggest libel suits in history, it was Max Gardner who spent long and tedious hours battling that suit

"Max Gardner was offered many high offices, but turned most of them down. He loved people more than position. In fact, he hesitated a long time before accepting the proffered post of ambassador to London.

* * *

Gardner's Business Career.

"I was scooped on his appointment Max had asked my advice about taking the plunge into diplomacy—a new field for him This tied my hands regarding any public comment. My advice, I'm sure, made little difference, but I felt that our relations with Great Britain never were more important, and that now more than ever we needed in London a blunt-speaking, bona-fide American, not a social-whirler to interpret the people of the USA to the people of Great Britain

"A few weeks earlier, Max had sold his North Carolina rayon mill He had built it years before, when rayon was new and had a highly hazardous future; so in many ways he hated to part with it But his son, who had managed the mill, was dead. With his passing something went out of Max's life and finally he sold out.

"I remember the day Max deposited the check in the bank With some pride he showed me the deposit slip—in seven figures

"'You're looking at a real live millionaire,' he said whimsically 'And I've no idea what to do with the money.'

"Yet in making that money, Max had never deserted his creed that it pays dividends to look out for the other fellow His mill was the first in the south to adopt the minimum wage; and last year while northern labor leaders were battling with U S Steel and General Motors for wage increases, Max voluntarily increased wages in his mill He had found it always paid him dividends

* * *

How New Deal Began.

'Nor did Max despite his wealth ever desert his belief that the world must move forward to more liberal things He always believed in the creed he expressed in a letter he wrote Franklin Roosevelt when FDR was governor of New York and Max was governor of North Carolina

"'The American people are on the move' Max wrote 'If I were you I would become more liberal, because I tell you the masses are marching and if we are to save this nation it has got to be saved by the liberal interpretations of the sentiments now ruling in the hearts of men

"'I am satisfied we are in the day of a new deal and that many of our preconceived ideas and formulas are going to be thrown into the discard We are more than blind if we think the American people can be hitched to the status quo. The camp fires of the past are now abandoned and the frontiers of thinking have extended beyond the limit heretofore held sacred by the conservative minds of this country.'

"Max believed that creed not only in 1932 when he wrote to Franklin Roosevelt, but to the very end.

"So, having sold his mill and deposited the money in the bank, Max decided he could devote the next years of his life to doing on a broader scale what he had been doing on an individual scale—bettering relations between people He accepted the president's offer to become ambassador to Great Britain.

"Just a few hours before he died, Max phoned me from New York to say good-bye. He was in excellent spirits and full of enthusiasm for his big new job.

"Only a few people outside the family knew that Max for many years had nursed a heart condition That was why he did not run for the senate in 1944 Bob Reynolds' term was up in that year, and though the two had been good friends and once shipped to Europe on a cattle boat together, Max was thoroughly disgusted with Reynolds' wartime isolationism—as were most of the people of North Carolina All his friends urged him to run for the senate, and he planned to do so

"But at the last minute his doctor, in effect, said no Max stepped aside and his brother-in-law, Clyde Hoey, won an easy victory.

"Though Max Gardner lived for his friends in a way what killed him was his friends After he was appointed to the Court of St. James, he found that he had more friends than he had ever dreamed All sorts of people, many with scarcely a nodding acquaintance bobbed up with invitations to dinners and cocktail parties It was a worse ordeal than if he had campaigned for the senate Yet, figuring it was a part of the new diplomatic game. Max went through with it."

Rent Control Row Nearing a Showdown.

WASHINGTON — The rent control row has broken into an angry free-for-all again.

And this time, citizens personally concerned with the problem may be wise to promptly pen a note to their congressmen or their president about their points of view.

For it looks as though a decision, legislative or administrative, is coming—and soon . . .

Both ways, the current outburst of lobbying on the basic rental battle far surpasses any previous show of strength on either side.

That is perfectly clear as both sides storm Capitol Hill, the White House, the public, the press and the radio for support. This time, they're not just skirmishing. They're unleashing their heaviest ammunition in full attack.

For instance, the National Association of Real Estate Boards, long opposed to federal rule over housing revenue, is ready to fire the heaviest volley in its history. Among other things, spokesmen say the NAREB will charge that rent control has robbed the country of some two million rental units and been responsible for preventing construction of countless other rentable homes and apartments.

They are not alone. Other landlord lobbyists in town assert that rent controls have forced thousands of them to convert their property to business use rather than residential, or hold it vacant and off the market altogether, or simply list it for sale at the highest price possible—which today is plenty high!

These are harsh words—big guns—for, presumably, everyone is interested in providing more rental units today to ease the housing shortage. But what about the other side?

All national labor union spokesmen who are ready to comment flatly oppose abolition of rent controls They assert that it would "skyrocket the already rapidly-rising cost of living, hit the nation's lowest-income group hardest of all, and inevitably force new equalizing wage demands on the part of labor everywhere."

Added one: "At a time like this, when we are attempting to attain a postwar economic balance and full civilian production, a sudden rise in workers' rents would dynamite all chance of industrial peace—the first prerequisite of both those national goals . . ."

Further, labor leaders charge that if any rental units are missing from the market due to rent controls it is "only because landlords are holding out in the hopes of beating the law and eventually getting high prices—just as the meat people did last summer and fall!"

Once again, harsh words those. But they are only the beginning. Joining the ranks of those who would retain rent controls is the newly formed "Americans for Democratic Action" organization, headed by such men as former Housing Expediter Wilson Wyatt and former Price Administrator Leon Henderson—who have belligerently returned to the old-time public fight in their regained role of private citizens, voters and taxpayers

For the most part, veterans' organizations are opposed to eliminating rent controls although some, such as the American Legion housing committee, say that administration of the controls has been the target of "justified criticism" and are willing to support certain increases . . .

Thomas L. Stokes

Hannegan Follows FDR's "Timing" Idea.

WASHINGTON—Perhaps the most valuable political asset of President Roosevelt was his sense of timing.

Some of his aides with pet projects, legislative or otherwise, often got annoyed and discouraged when he put them off with "wait, this isn't the proper time." But the time usually would come. Something might happen to push the subject before the nation, maybe something that the president himself had arranged—for he had a way of doing that. Or perhaps he would catch the opposition off balance. Then he would strike.

The series of reforms that he left behind vouch for the success of his method.

This is not to compare Bob Hannegan, national Democratic chairman, with the late president as a political strategist.

But he borrowed from the Roosevelt manual in timing the opening of his "second-term-for-Truman" campaign in a New York speech. The timing was good for several reasons.

In the first place, President Truman's stock has gone up considerably since the election. It was hard for it to go any other way, but the recovery has been notable. John L. Lewis helped some. So did the president's calm and carefully considered messages at the opening of the Republican congress.

In the second place, Republicans are decidedly off balance in congress just at this moment, which is understandable for a party long out of power coming back to face difficult problems.

They are quarreling among themselves over budget, taxes, labor legislation, reciprocal tariff program. They are torn, too, with conflicting ambitions, or as Senator Taft (R,O) put it the other night with pardonable hyperbole—there are 51 senators and 245 members of the house running for president. (That's the total Republican membership in each branch.)

Typical of what is going on was the spectacle before the senate labor committee the next morning after Bob Hannegan's New York speech. Harold Stassen, the only publicly announced candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, found himself trading blows over labor legislation with Senator Ball (R., Minn.), who was started on his senatorial career through appointment by Mr. Stassen, then governor of Minnesota.

Senator Taft mixed in, too. A few minutes later Senator Morese (Ore.) of the western progressive wing of the Republican party, was whanging away on the senate floor at the more conservative wing. So it goes.

From all of this Mr. Truman stands on the sidelines, serenely aloof. From time to time, he reminds the Republicans—and the public—of their disagreements. Occasionally he dramatizes the political jealousies among them, as he renewed his recommendation that the succession to the presidency be, first, to speaker of the house, and, second, to president of the senate. Republicans don't want to touch that one until they have their own man in the White House.

Continually, too, the president reminds Republicans that they have complete responsibility in congress. He will not let either them or the public forget that.

For the time being, President Truman, as a candidate for 1948—and there seems no doubt that he is that—gains from the position of one man against a field of ambitious Republicans.

Bob Hannegan's tossing of the president's hat in the ring now was timely, in the third place, because it caught the left-wingers in his party off balance, just as it did Republicans.

Washington Changes With Changing Times.

WASHINGTON — The tides of history beat so fiercely on this city that the landmarks of the past have little chance of survival The Capitol and the White House remain out of an older Washington. But everywhere else the white cliffs of government overwhelm the quiet town of yesterday.

Now another fixed point of reference is to vanish. For 72 years the secretary of state has occupied the great wedding cake of a building across narrow West Executive Avenue from the White House.

It was built in the days when we imported our architecture from Paris, as women who could afford it imported their dresses. Those were the days when government was a ceremony rather than a function The building has the look of an imposing Victorian dowager.

In the beginning, it was known as the state, war and navy building because it comfortably contained all three departments. Air conditioning was unknown in that quaint era. But the walls were massive and, even in the dead of summer, air circulated through the high-ceilinged rooms What is more, all top officials left the city in the summer for a more comfortable climate

State, war and navy flanked the White House on one side, and treasury on the other. This was the triumvirate of government. Across Pennsylvania avenue was the shady quiet of Jackson Square, and everyone who mattered, or nearly everyone, lived around the square in big comfortable houses.

Directly across from the White House, in adjoining houses, lived Henry Adams and his good friend John Hay, who was secretary of state under McKinley and Theodore Roosevelt. Hay, who had been private secretary to Abraham Lincoln, was one of America's distinguished literary and political figures.

Traditionally, men of distinction have held the No. 1 cabinet post. James G. Blaine, Elihu Root, William J. Bryan, Robert Lansing, Charles Evans Hughes, Henry L. Stimson, Cordell Hull—all these men have occupied the big ceremonial office that is now to be vacated.

The offices of the newest secretary of state, Gen George C. Marshall, will be moved while he is attending the Moscow conference Today the business of the state department is no longer a ceremony but one of the most important functions of government.

State has approximately 6200 civil service employes in Washington. The operations of the foreign service, with 11,000 employes, extend all over the globe. They cover phases of activity growing out of the new technology.

It is fitting that Secretary Marshall should be in command in this period of change. He stands for the values of the past, above all for the kind of integrity and patriotism that we associate with the men who founded this country.

At the same time he is keenly aware of the need to bring the whole operation of the state department up to date.

Marshall has already made a number of moves to align the functioning machinery of the department. He has the kind of clear-sighted vision that enables him to cut through inhibitions and conventions that impeded the work of the department in the past

There were reasons of sentiment and convenience for clinging to the old building. But practical considerations dictated the move.

The new home of the state department is modern and efficient. It will be a start toward getting the organization under one roof. Today it is distributed through 25 buildings in Washington.

THE farmer from Logan county looked rested and younger than when I had seen him last I told him so. He looked sheepish.

"You'll be surprised," he said, "but I reckon I'll just tell you. My wife and I have skun a new scheme for a winter vacation."

"What?"

"Well—you know how our farm is We keep a herd of cattle We've got three kids in high school, and there's plenty of work to do the year around But here lately my wife's begun to lag a bit She's tired most of the time—and I figgered out that she needs a vacation 'Tain't that she's sick—but she needs a change, I guess. I tried to get her to go avisitin'—told her we-all could get along. But when she did go, she come home all worn out They'd entertained her most to death—and so last week I eloped with her—and let the kids take over Just for the week-end We left home Friday night and didn't come back until Sunday.

"She didn't know where we was goin'—and was she surprised We went just over to the state capital, and got a room at a big hotel Hadn't been in a hotel overnight since our honeymoon Then we window shopped, and got supper at a funny little foreign restaurant . . . and went to a show and stayed up until after three o'clock, just actin' a fool.

"Saturday all day we spent watching the city go by We went to the museum and the capitol building and to the hospital to visit a friend who was allfired glad to see us He'd been there three weeks, and was on the mend after surgery Madgus glad to be well . . . we each bought a new hat

"Sunday morning we went to church It was lovely We felt dressed up in the new hats—and the music was wonderful The committee welcomed us, special, before we went out.

"Then we had Sunday dinner in the hotel—finger bowls, by gosh! Momma didn't do a lick of work the whole time, and she said it was nice to eat some cookin' not her own, without puttin' anybody to any special trouble, or havin' to eat more'n she wanted. For my part, I was glad enough to get some good home grub, when we got back.

"The kids? Oh, they got along fine. One heifer had a calf, and the boys were as proud as punch . . . you'd a thought . . . well no matter . . . yes, we're going to do it again, before planting time. It's good medicine for Momma"

Prospect PTA Celebrates 50th Anniversary Monday

Celebrating the 50th anniversary of the founding of Parent Teachers' associations was the meeting held last evening by members of the Prospect PTA. Guest speaker for the occasion was Mrs. R. E. Pollock of Galion, director of the North Central district of the Ohio Congress of PTA. She gave the highlights of the past 50 years of the association and told of the beginning of the association in Ohio in 1901.

Recognition was given Alice McLellan Birney and Phoebe Apperson Hearst of New York City, who were the co-founders of the PTA groups. Mrs. R. M. Beatty favored with several piano solos.

Past president pins were presented to the following: F. E Domer, S. D. Hollingsworth, O. M. Bauer, D. G. Schooley, H. J. Londot, C. L. Swank, A. E. Robinson and Ralph Bradrick

Prize for room attendance representation was given to Miss Mabel Brollier's first grade.

Hosts for the social hour, at which time refreshments were served, were Mr. and Mrs. David Gregg, chairmen, Mr. and Mrs Von Davis, Mr and Mrs. Thomas Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Poorman and Mr. and Mrs. William Lantz. The luncheon table was attractively decorated with gold appointments with large "50" in gold centering the board. Gold lighted tapers completed the decorations.

The next meeting will be held March 10 with a program on recreation.

Delegates Chosen By DAR Chapter At Luncheon Meet

Members of the Mary Washington chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, met Monday for a salad luncheon and business session in the Women's Club.

Miss Elizabeth Chapin, formerly a teacher at Crossnore school, Crossnore, N. C., told of the founding of the school by Drs Mary M and E. H Sloop, who saw the great need for educational facilities in that mountain community. There are now twenty buildings in the unit and 200 children from six to 20 years of age live and attend school there. Two of the dormitories have been given by the D. A. R.

Mrs. Jay Palmer, regent, presided at the business meeting at which delegates to state conference and continental conference were named. Mrs. C. G. Hilber, Mrs. Eloise Buchan and Mrs. J. B. Simons will attend the former in Columbns, March 11, and Mrs. C. W. McConnell will represent the Mary Washington chapter at continental congress in Washington, D. C., May 18.

The group allowed a contribution for Ellis Island, the funds to be used in the Occupational Therapy department. A set of books on geneology will be purchased by the organization and placed in the Mansfield library Annual reports were made by committee chairmen

Two long serving tables were attractively arranged with bouquets of jonquils. Mrs George Mead, Mrs George Searle, Mrs. W. S. Miller and Mrs. J B Simons served as hostesses The next meeting will be March 10.

Child Guidance Group Hears Nutritionist

Mrs. A. C. Tuttle, a former college student of nutrition, spoke to members of the Child Guidance club Monday night at their regular meeting in the home of Mrs. Derl Arehart, 668 Millsboro road Her subject was "It's Fun Feeding Your Family"

"Nutrition is a science and science is a moving thing," Mrs Tuttle said Yesterday calories were counted with care but today the important object of our food preparation is plenty of vitamins, she continued. We have to supply much-needed energy and to help us we have modern equipment, tools and prepared foods to help make it really fun to cook

Mrs Tuttle suggested that to sell meals to your family, add little decorations making the most of every festive occasion such as Valentine's day, Easter individual birthdays, patriotic holidays—then comment on the history and traditions of the holiday during the meals. She concluded her talk with this tribute to vitamins—"They add years to our lives and life to our years"

A children's Valentine party is planned for Saturday, Feb 15, at Johns' Park Pavilion at 2 p. m. Hostesses are the mesdames Harold Hamblin, chairman, William Linton, Gene Culp, Edgar Berry and Arehart The next regular meeting of the group will be Feb 24, at the home of Mrs Culp, 241 Abbeyfeale road.

Corsages of wedding bells and a miniature lighted telephone booth took the prizes at Ohio university's co-ed prom in the men's gym at Athens. Pictured (left to right) are: John Sprow of Jackson, who won the most humorous award for his phone booth with a girl inside it, made for him by Katie Brumfield of Gallipolis, and Carl Cahlik of Cleveland, whose silver wedding bell arrangement created by Betty Smart, 60 Sherman avenue, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Smart, received the prize for the most beautiful corsage. Approximately 1,200 couples attended the turnabout affair, for which the gals invited the men, bought the tickets, made corsages and called for their dates.

Fete Bride-Elect At Kitchen Shower At Butterfields

Honoring Miss Mary Switzer of Lucas, bride-elect of LaVern Mitchell of Lucas, was the prenuptial party given Monday evening at the home of Miss Pat Butterfield on Columbus avenue Associate hostess was Mrs. Clifford Walker. The group surprised her with a shower of kitchen gifts and the hostesses presented Miss Switzer with a pressure cooker

Games were the diversion for the 12 in attendance. Prizes were won by Miss Barbara Shilliday and Miss June Miles. The honoree found her shower gifts by hints in poems attached to tiny hearts Refreshments were served at a late hour with appointments in red and white.

Miss Switzer will become the bride of Mr. Mitchell Sunday, Feb. 16, at 3 30 p m. before the altar of the St Paul Lutheran church in Lucas.

Legion Auxiliary Honors State Officers, Guests

A challenge for all citizens to be good American servants, abhorred by the words, "juvenile delinquency" because of the fact that usually it is the adults who are delinquent, highlighted the address given by Mrs. Robert Gray, Dayton, department president of the American Legion auxiliary, Monday night at the meeting of Earl D. McVey unit 16 of the auxiliary.

Red, white and blue appointments were used for the buffet supper served to 110 women by Mrs. Harold Isch and her committee.

Following a business session conducted by Mrs. Ralph Shively, president of the local unit, Mrs. Gray used the new American Legion auxiliary ritual when 21 new members received their obligation in an impressive candlelight service.

Mrs. Gray asserted that every month should be Americanism month. She concluded her talk by stressing that we must all start to live together harmoniously in our community and set an example for the rest of the world.

Brief tribute was paid to General George Washington and Abraham Lincoln by Mrs. Walter Beckley, past department president and past president of the Mansfield unit. This was followed by a welcome to 22 members of the Shelby unit, extended by past local presidents.

Miss Marie Kalbfleisch, program chairman, and Mrs. Faye Fairman, pianist, led the group in singing sweetheart songs in keeping with the Valentine season.

The next meeting of the organization will be held Monday, Feb. 24, with Mrs. Charles Sanderson, Americanism chairman, in charge of the program.

Homogenized Milk Is
Milk Babies Like Better -- Milk Your Family Will Enjoy
Babies like homogenized milk better because it has a rich, creamy taste—a taste that makes them want more.
Your family will like homogenized milk because the cream is mixed evenly through the milk, giving each glassful the same rich, delicious flavor, right down to the last drop.
400 EXTRA Vitamin D units in every quart provide added nourishment and help build strong bones and sound teeth. Nutrition experts say all babies and growing children should have 400 Vitamin D units daily.
For a creamier, richer, more nourishing milk, try . . .
Isaly's Homogenized Vitamin D Milk
Why Homogenized Milk Has A Richer, Creamier Taste You Will Like
In ordinary milk, the cream and milk are separate; the milk is not uniform; each serving contains unequal amounts of butterfat and varies in taste.
In Homogenized Milk, the cream is MIXED with the milk giving a smooth, creamy flavor. Every drop is forced through tiny openings at extremely high pressure. This produces nearly 10 times more cream particles and MIXES them with the milk.
Thus, there's cream through the entire quart. The "cream line" is really at the bottom of the bottle, because the milk and cream never separate.
Every serving of Isaly's Homogenized milk, whether the first or last poured from the bottle, is equally nourishing, equally rich and delicious. Try it once, you'll use it always.

Fashion Changes Noticeable In New Designs

As the spring fashion season develops for the consumer, she will discover all sorts of new and interesting trends which present contrast in the fashion movement but at the same time all sorts of nice harmonies in coordination of hats, costumes and accessories, according to a forecast just completed by the fashion department of Women's Wear Daily

The changes that are coming about take two directions Silhouette—is of first importance, and in some of the fashions of this season it is accented above everything else, to give the impression of pure line

The change that has come about in dresses, suits and coats is of greatest interest and all the variations are important. That "something new" is seen in the new fashions of length. Skirts are a little longer. Jackets of suits are definitely longer There is also greater dimension in width of skirts. Much fulness flows from the waistline, and still, for those who prefer it the slender silhouette is sustained in the skirt of cut-away suits and the tapered line of draped dresses The new pleated skirts make that compromise silhouette which is slender when still and full in action.

HOROSCOPE

For Wednesday, February 12.

A particularly lively and progressive day is possible, with affairs moving to highly progressive and constructive climax and under high tempo or exciting pressure The latter might arise from extremely influential sources, but it might be politic to use such interest with tact and initiative, but with prudent and conventional approach. Force or high-powered tactics might imperil best results. Joint interests thrive under new arrangements of revamped objectives Carefully organize such new moves.

Those whose birthday it are assured a year of fulfilled ambitions, progressive and productive to the nth degree with proper initiative, enterprise, new ways and means, for attaining major objectives and satisfactions There is prospect of success through the intervention of those in influential positions and power, who must be "handled with gloves" and not sledge hammer blows Force would defeat most cherished and desired plans whereas tact and finesse win.

A child born on this day should have sufficient ability, initiative and "know how" to attain high objectives and goals in life, in face of shrewd obstacle or want of cooperation
